

LANDMARK TOUR OF MOTHER LOUE BEGINS IN STORM

Pilgrims Will Cover in Comfort the Roads Where Pioneers Tramped.

The appearance of the bustling little mining town it was in 1849. IN DRESS OF PIONEER. The residents of the community are garbed in the garments of the forty-niner. The flowy vests, the big flat hats, the top boots and even the hoop skirts have been exhumed from grandfathers' and grandmothers' trunks and donned in order to make the picture complete. To the visitor Sacramento will appear as it did to the argonaut of forty-nine. There will be the big dance hall with its pioneer entertainers. There will be a revival of the old dancers and fiddlers acquainted with the old songs have been brought from the mountains to ply their arts for the delectation of the visitors. The celebration starts on next Tuesday and continues for a week. Thousands of tourists are expected and preparations are being made for the rush. Camping places have been arranged in the vicinity of the city and are equipped with all conveniences. Automobiles will be permitted

Spring Romance

The diamond engagement ring is a symbol of undying love—a pledge eternal.

It is only fitting that it should be perfect, though not necessarily costly. The diamond should be of pleasing size, as perfect as the market affords, and artistically mounted in a dainty setting.

Such rings compose our stock of $100 diamond rings, scores of which have been used to seal engagements this spring.

And in most cases the buyers have taken advantage of our liberal policy to allow

Bandits Give Back 44 Cents To Watchman

Raymond Rockford, a night watchman on the Electric Loop property, was held up by two armed bandits who entered his home and woke him up. "Don't make any noise, but hand over your money," said one of the bandits. The watchman took forty-four cents out of his pocket and handed it to the robbers. "Is that all the money you have," asked one of the men. When Rockford told the robbers that he was broke one of the bandits handed his money back to him, saying, "We don't rob the poor." They took a fire of Rockford's automobile when they were leaving. They also took his revolver and hid it under a culvert. The holdup took place at Seventy-seventh avenue and Garfield street. Rockford resides at 724 Sixth avenue. The case was investigated by Policeman D. J. Leehan.

St. Louis Gunmen Fire on Hogan Home

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 19.—(By International News Service.)—An other demonstration in the war between rival St. Louis gangs took place today when an automobile load of gunmen opened fire upon the home of Edward T. Hogan with revolvers and sawed off shotguns, and in the twinkling of an eye, riddled the front of the house with bullets. Detectives gave chase. This is the second outbreak of shooting in two days in the city.

No one in the house was hurt. everywhere in the city but on the street. This thoroughfare will be devoted exclusively to the interests of the forty-niners and no modern convenience will be permitted. Here those who desire to ride will have to take a saddle horse or the ancient stage coaches.

Dismissal Denied In Treason Trial

By PAUL R. MALLON. United Press Staff Correspondent. CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 19.—Judge J. M. Woods today refused the request of the defense to dismiss the treason indictment against Bill Blizzard, mine workers' chief. The defense sought to have the indictment dismissed on the grounds that the State had failed to prove the treason charge.

FIRE IN NIGHT RAZES PLANT OF ECONOMY MILLS

$80,000 Damage Caused, Is Estimate; Police to Probe Origin.

Fire which began at 1 a. m. today destroyed the plant of the Economy Mills, 753 High street, causing damage estimated at $80,000. The blaze broke out in the waste department and swept through the one-story structure, destroying equipment and supplies. When the department arrived in response to a third alarm, the whole building was in flames. A police investigation of the cause is under way.

The conflagration broke out from spontaneous combustion, it is believed. In this part of the building were stored more than forty tons of old rags, which had been shipped here from France and Belgium and arrived several days ago. The west end of the building housed machinery which is used in manufacturing window weights.

Immediately upon his arrival, Battalion Fire Chief Martin Carlson, who directed the fire fighting, sent in calls to headquarters for additional apparatus.

The fire raged for several hours (the last train to the annex district, and compelled many passengers to walk to their homes. Several hours of fighting was necessary to put out the flames which threatened the entire district.

The Economy mills are owned by Alfred Johnson, 636 Sixtieth street. According to Johnson, a portion of the loss is covered by insurance.

Johnson Moves to Check Child Labor

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, May 19.—A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to prevent exploitation of child labor was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Johnson, Republican of California. The resolution would amend Article X of the Constitution so as to give Congress the power to regulate or prohibit throughout the United States the employment of children under 18 years of age. Johnson announced he had drafted the proposed amendment as a result of the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, which declared the child labor law of 1919 was unconstitutional.

Miners' Union Is Sued for $1,000,000

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 19.—The echo of the 1910 coal strike and subsequent disturbances in the Southern West Virginia fields came today when a civil suit against the United Mine Workers of America for $1,000,000 damages, growing out of the shooting up of the Willis Branch Coal company properties was filed with the clerk of the Federal court. Intentions were expressed also of attaching property of the union in Berkeley and Charleston which the plaintiffs' attorneys said was valued at $150,000.

California Cracks Are Cornell Guests

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. ITHACA, N. Y., May 19.—The University of California track squad, consisting of fifteen men, arrived here today to spend a week as the guests of the Cornell track team while en route to Harvard for the annual intercollegiate track meet on May 26 and 27. The Westerners will be entertained by the Red and White athletes while here, and although no meet is scheduled to be held between the two teams, the visitors may indulge in informal competition while continuing their training for the intercollegiate.

First It's Fits, Then '49 Rally With Hair Artist

John S. Vierra, accused by his wife of failure to provide, declared today that he is having more than his fair share of hard luck.

When he was first haled before Superior Judge Church on his wife's charge, Vierra explained that because he was subject to sudden, unexpected fits, he was prevented from following his trade, which was that of barber. Employers, he said, were afraid he would be seized with a fit just as his razor was poised over some good customer's Adam's apple. However, he said he was being treated for his malady, and had the doctor's word for it that he was nearly cured. Judge Church told him he could have another chance.

Recently Mrs. Vierra reported that her husband was again failing to provide for her and their minor children. Today Vierra's attorney, Monroe Friedman, presented to Judge Church a letter from Vierra explaining that after he had been cured of his fits he had at last managed to get a job in a Marysville barber shop. "And I no sooner had started work," he wrote, "than this 'Days of '49' celebration broke out, and the shaving and hair-cutting business in the Sacramento Valley dropped to nothing at all." Vierra promised that as soon as the celebration was over he would take care of his family.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE PROCEEDS

Notwithstanding a lack of sufficient workers in some districts good progress in the matter of organized effort is reported from headquarters of the Salvation Army "Mortgage Campaign" drive in the Henshaw building. Most of the large stores and industrial plants in the city have undertaken the canvass of their own organizations and generous responses are expected from this source. In the outside communities the following well known men are leading the local drives:

Hayward, W. T. Knightly; Livermore, Joseph McKown and M. G. Callaghan; Emeryville, A. J. Costa and E. J. Carey; San Leandro, W. E. Zambriski; Niles, W. S. Channey.

The executive committee issued the following this morning: "We have the county fairly well organized with the exception of Berkeley and Alameda, two important places, and the executive committee takes this means of appealing for volunteer help in those two cities. We realize that Berkeley and Alameda are both interested in the success of this splendid enterprise maintained by the Salvation Army, but so far we have been unable to secure active leadership in either city."

Mexican War Chief Moves on Rebel City

MEXICO CITY, May 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Secretary of War Serrano, who recently left the capital on receipt of reports of the sacking of Frontera, state of Tabasco, by 300 rebels under Jose Segovia, boarded the gunboat Zaragoza at Vera Cruz and is on his way to the scene of the trouble.

A war office statement says Segovia's forces were surprised and defeated this morning at Las Palmas while celebrating their victory, and that several of the rebels were killed and others captured.

It is understood Secretary Serrano has called a war council of all the heads of departments in the isthmian territory, and, if necessary, will remove Villa Hermosa until the campaign is well under way against General Carlos Greene, commander of the rebels.

Semenoff Freed by N. Y. Court Order

NEW YORK, May 19.—General Gregorie Semenoff, former Altman of the Cossacks, was ordered released from arrest today by the appellate division of the Supreme Court, which reversed the decision of Supreme Court Justice Delahanty. Semenoff was arrested on a civil warrant obtained by the Yonkers Home and Foreign Trading Company, a New York bankrupt concern, which charged him with selling supplies owned by the company in Siberia. The higher court directed that $10 cents be awarded. He is now out on $25,000 bail.

Alameda Bar Urged To Aid Lawyers' Bill

At a special meeting held in the probate court today the members of the Alameda County Bar Association were urged to unite to pass the Sample bill, which would prohibit banks and trust companies from handling legal matters. The principal speakers were Jeremiah Sullivan, president of the San Francisco County Bar Association, and M. C. Chapman, president of the local association. The speakers pointed out that the law already been passed by the State Legislature and is to be submitted to a referendum vote at the next election.

Two Killed, 5 Hurt By Gas Explosion

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 19.—Two men were killed, one critically hurt and four less seriously injured in a gas explosion in the basement of Jefferson Physical Laboratory at Harvard University this afternoon. The dead are: A. K. Dunbar of Cambridge, a fellow for research in engineering, and William Connolly of Cambridge, a carpenter employed in the building.

Children Crusader Plea Is Rejected

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The department of justice has rejected the plea of the "children crusaders" for speedy action looking to the release of their fathers, in jail for political offenses during the war. Mrs. Kate O'Hare, leader of the crusaders, reported to President Harding today. In view of the department's action, Mrs. O'Hare again put the question of releasing the prisoners directly up to Harding.

HULLS BUILT AT COST OF $85,000 SOLD FOR $1700

18 Boats Constructed Here to Be Bent Away With Lumber and Resold.

Constructed at a cost of approximately $85,000 each during the war by the government, wooden hulls recently moved from East Oakland harbor to Antioch, have been sold by the shipping board at $1700 per vessel, it was learned today. The hulls have been purchased by J. F. McGahie. Since their launching, the hulls have lain in the estuary, until recently, when removed to Antioch. The engines and boilers for most of the vessels are now stored at Alameda and also will be offered for sale by the shipping board. According to rumors in shipping circles, the owner of the hulls will load them with lumber for South America, Australia and the Orient, where the hulls will be sold for a good price. The hulls will be able to carry 3,000,000 feet of lumber each.

CHAUFFEUR MATE OF DIVA TO DROP DIVORCE ACTION

Floyd Grotzbach to Consent to Default, He Writes Mme. Matzenauer.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Legal steps were being taken today by attorneys for Floyd Grotzbach, chauffeur husband of Mme. Matzenauer, grand opera singer, to have dismissed the counter divorce suit filed by Grotzbach, who in a letter to the diva announced he had decided to contest her action for divorce in no way.

"I will take all responsibility and consent to a default that you may get a divorce from me," he wrote. "I do not want to hamper your life in any way."

Whether his action will have the effect of calling off a hearing to have been held in Salinas May 29th in connection with Mme. Matzenauer's divorce was uncertain today.

MANY EXPENSES MAKE VACATION DOUBTFUL

"Say, Jack, I read in the paper yesterday that the Department of Forestry is starting a campaign against careless smokers for the coming season. Good idea, too. I saw somewhere that cigar and cigarette stubs thrown from automobiles caused most of the fire loss during 1921."

"It is a crime to be careless in that way. Such terrible things can result from throwing away a stub that is not out, that there should be some severe punishment attached."

"Speaking of campers, etc., I suppose you and your family will be starting out on vacation soon. You usually go pretty early, don't you?"

"We usually do, yes. But not this year. I won't leave until after the Shriners' Convention. We expect some friends from the east and, as we will have them out at the house, we won't think of vacation until later, and possibly we won't go at all this year."

"Not go at all? An enthusiastic out-of-door man like you? What's the idea?"

"Well, you know how rotten business was the last year? Better now, but there have been so many expenses. And then the whole family must have a lot of new clothes before the convention, and that will be about all we can afford."

"Say, now. With your business picking up again, that's nonsense. Of course you can afford a vacation and new clothes for the family too. Get the clothes on credit and take six months to pay. Cherry's allow that, you know. Good place, too. They've a store for women at 515 13th street and one for men and boys at 528 13th street."—Advertiser.

MAN GULPS 38 RAW EGGS AT SINGLE SITTING

HARTSGROVE, Ohio, May 20.—With thirty-eight raw eggs eaten at a single sitting, Oleg Foster, of this village, claims the egg-eating championship of Ohio and, perhaps, of the United States.

At the village grocery the other night the town wit offered to buy two dozen eggs if Foster would eat them. The offer was accepted, and the eggs were eaten. Another local sport then made a wager that Foster couldn't eat another dozen. The money was put up and Foster finished the dozen, going strong, eating a couple extra just to show his prowess.

Readings will be given by Bernice Lyman, Raymond Baldsley, Charles Harrington, Jean Bertram, Rose Segure, Beth Peterson.

Pickpockets Fight Shy of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Pickpockets fight shy of the Quaker City. No. It is not because "sticking people up" is easier, but because picking pockets as a profession is no longer profitable here. Two things have wrought the change. The first is a neat law which permits light-fingered gentry to spend ninety days in jail without being taken to court. Only a charge of vagrancy is needed to secure this sentence from a magistrate.

The other and more potent cause is sixfold, the number of lessons in picking pockets which made them almost as skilled as the professional thief. However, their purpose was to make the sleuths acquainted with the various wiles of the "dips." Upon being turned loose the results attained by the squad were miraculous. Many pickpockets suddenly found themselves guests of the city lockup.

Kansas City Church Has 'Sparkling Pews'

KANSAS CITY, Kan., May 20.—Youth will be served. "Sparkling" pews for young people are the attraction in one Kansas City church. Rev. C. A. Finch, pastor of the Central Christian church, has reserved two pews at the rear of his church as an aid to Cupid.

"Those who simply can't live without one another should be given every opportunity possible to be together," said the Rev. Finch. "Loversick young persons are easily embarrassed by the unsympathetic eyes of dignified church deacons and puritanical matrons who perhaps have forgotten their romantic yesterdays. That is my reason for reserving the rear pews for youthful lovers," the pastor explained.

"I consider it far more appropriate for the younger generation to 'spoon' at church than in motor cars along lonely country roads. Let no youthful couple search for the place to tell love's story—they can 'spark' in Central church."

PULLMAN POSSE NABS WYOMING LIQUOR DEALERS

Peace Officers in Sleeping Car Supplant Two-Gun Horsemen of Plains.

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The old order of justice on the far-flung plains of the West is changing.

Hard-riding two-gun plainsmen are passing from the picture and in their stead come lean, youthful law enforcement officers riding Pullman cars instead of ponies. The gradual change in the West's famous posses became a matter of history recently when a "Pullman posse" raided private distilleries in Wyoming to the complete bewilderment of all old-timers.

The posse, headed by State Probation Commissioner Carl Jackson, left Cheyenne, famous old frontier town, late one night in a special Pullman car attached to a transcontinental limited, the car traveling under sealed orders, not even the train crew knowing its destination. Shortly after dawn Director Jackson issued his orders and the car was dropped on a little siding.

Forty deputy marshals, sworn in for the raid, dropped from the car and disappeared in the early dawn. They traveled in squads, each squad having special orders to raid certain suspected "bootleg joints."

The raiders scattered through three frontier towns—Rock Springs, Green River and South Superior.

PRISONERS BROUGHT IN. In ten minutes the first prisoners were being brought back to the car headquarters along with samples of confiscated liquor. U. S. Commissioner L. H. Brown held a "drumhead" court in the Pullman drawing room. F. D. Scribbling, division chemist established an impromptu laboratory at the other end of the car.

Samples of the seized liquors were given to Scribbling. As quickly as he decided they were illegal the prisoners were taken before Commissioner Brown at the opposite end of the Pullman. In a half-hour sixty-two prisoners had been taken, arraigned before Brown and held in bail for trial before the Federal Court in Cheyenne.

Five of the prisoners were women. Several wept bitterly. All but four of the prisoners furnished bonds.

The raiders then flagged a freight train, commandeered an empty box car, loaded it with 4000 gallons of seized liquors and left the siding in a whirl of dust at the end of the freight train. At the next junction point the Pullman car was switched to an express and the posse returned to their homes in Cheyenne, a hundred miles away.

Swifter even than old-time frontier justice, the new method has struck an even deeper terror in

CITIZENS FLEE TO AVOID TAXES

PERSHING, Okla., May 20.—"They bonded the town so dead-gone heavy the folks all moved away."

That's the way one of the "burying" residents described the plight of this "city" today.

Pershing—boom town of the Osage country—incorporated in 1919 and quickly growing to a population of several thousand, has but a few hundred inhabitants left within its limits. It's "Main street" looks deserted—for all the world like a stage street on a movie "lot" after the mob "extras" have left and the cameras have ceased to grind.

It had big ideas, according to the "early settlers." It took the name of the commander of the American armies in the war, and General Pershing, justly proud, gave money for its beautiful church edifice.

But it wanted public improvements and bonded itself for $140,000. Taxes soon soared. They reached 16 per cent, where they are at present, and the Pershingites began to "pull up stakes" and move.

Some of the buildings which were portable were hauled out of town. Others were burned up.

Oklahoma taxpayers who took $30,000 of Pershing's bonds have now asked for an investigation, which has been ordered, to ascertain why the interest on their bonds has not been kept up.

the hearts of evil doers. A noticeable halt in bootlegging activities throughout the whole state was the chief result. Added to this came a wholesome respect for the law.

I tell you this store is certainly growing in popularity. Every day we see new faces. People come to us and say they have been reading my ads, or else that some of their friends who have traded have liked the store so well that they have recommended it.

When they talk about the ads, that makes me feel good. When they talk about the friends that sent them here—that makes us all feel good. Come see for yourself how you like us.

SWEDEN MAY GIVE FARMS TO UNEMPLOYED

Attempt to Find Permanent Cure For Nation's Big Problem.

STOCKHOLM, May 19.—Before long the Swedish unemployed may have a chance to become independent farmers. When they recently expressed the desire to obtain small farms of their own where they might work till old age without being subjected to enforced idleness, their request sounded at first like wishing for the moon.

But not so to the minister of agriculture, who immediately ordered an investigation into the possibilities of forming a farm colony in the province of Soedermanland. If the plan is found feasible the government may purchase land to be parceled among its unemployed. The project of course would involve more than acquiring the land. The government will have to build cottages on the farms and supply its indigent citizens with livestock, farm implements and living expenses for the first year.

The farm project is one of the most important and interesting in many attempts for relieving the unemployment troubles of the country. Last winter several thousand jobless were given instruction in almost any branch of learning in which they were interested.

Large appropriations were set aside for doles and for public works at which the otherwise unemployed would be able to earn a living wage, and it was hoped that conditions would soon become better. Nevertheless, unemployment is still the most serious problem of Sweden, despite a slight decrease in the number of idle.

The Unemployment Commission is laying plans for extensive forest work in cooperation with the Forestry Board and the State Domains Department.

Texan Still Quick on "Draw"

300 DRESSES

As Great a Dress Sale as We Have Ever Offered—

HIGH-GRADE Garments SACRIFICED to us by a big New York manufacturer. Many in this lot are worth double the sale price. All of them would sell regularly at a far higher price.

We hardly know how to convince you of the elegance of these dresses with such an absurdly low price as $12.95. We would ask you to shop around town and compare them, except that while you were doing it women would buy the whole 300.

If you are really in need of a FINE SILK DRESS for summer, plan to be one of the FIRST to select from this SENSATIONAL GROUP of 300 dresses Saturday Morning.

It is a very UNUSUAL PURCHASE or such a price would be IMPOSSIBLE

Poland's Army Cut To 240,000 Men

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Polish army has been reduced to 240,000 men, but the maximum peace strength will be 250,000, Michael Kwapiszewski, Polish charge d'affaires, said today in an address before the American-Polish chamber of commerce.

"According to official advices, the soviet government has an army of more than 1,500,000," he said. Poland, he said, wants to be peaceful but must guard against aggression. She is determined to abide loyally by the Upper Silesian decision on her own boundary.

Jumps Through Bank Window; Is in Jail

SANTA BARBARA, May 19.—Half an hour after Carl Labont, middle aged working man, had jumped through a teller's window at the Bank of Santa Maria, 90 miles north of here, and scooped up a handful of silver dollars, he was in the city jail there to await the coming of county officers from Santa Barbara, according to advices received here yesterday.

W. B. Thompson Sued By Symphony Society

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Russian Symphony society has filed suit for $37,500 against William Boyce Thompson, alleging that he promised to pay $60,000 to enable the society to send an orchestra throughout the country during the 1918-19 season and actually gave up only $22,500 after the tour was made at his suggestion.

The complaint sets forth that Thompson became president and guarantor of the society in August, 1918.

Boris A. Balchmetoff, then the "Russian ambassador to America," became honorary president; Percy Rockefeller, vice president, and Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of Woodrow Wilson, chairman of the women's committee, the complaint said.

ESCAPED CONVICT SHOT. PHOENIX, Ariz., May 19.—Oscar Schultz, an escaped convict from the Arizona state penitentiary at Florence, was shot and killed yesterday by members of a sheriff's posse who had been pursuing him since Tuesday when he held up a bank in Cooley, Ariz., and escaped with $277.

The Thrills of Graduating from High School and Grammar School

The Ad Masque Theme

Truth in Advertising

It reminds us of a story. A man who had bought a second-hand automobile brought a complaint to court. He said the former owner sold him the machine as a 1917 model, but he later discovered it was a 1915 model. The court decreed that according to the Maxim Caveat Emptor, he was without legal redress, as he should have satisfied himself as to the truth of the seller's statements at the time of the purchase.

If the celebrated maxim still exists in legal circles, it was long ago outlawed in responsible business circles. Not Caveat Emptor, "let the buyer beware"—but Caveat Vendor, "let the seller beware" is the fundamental doctrine in the representative stores of today.

GIER'S PROPERTY HERE SEIZED BY FEDERAL AGENTS

Confiscation Made as Security for 46,000 Gallons Missing on Records.

Acting under direct instructions from Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Hames, Director of Prohibition Samuel F. Rutter yesterday ordered the seizure of all warehouses, wines, vats and utensils of the Theodore Gier Vineyard company in Oakland. The seizure is declared to be as security for about 46,000 gallons of wine found to be missing from the company's bonded stock, as compared with latest official returns in the hands of government inspectors. Gier's bonded stock was carefully checked over during the past two days, as a result of the arrest of some of his employees on a charge of bootlegging.

Gier called upon Internal Revenue Collector John P. McLaughlin yesterday and tendered payment of all taxes due on the wine held by him. According to the reports of federal inspectors, a large portion of the wine did not carry the government stamp. Though Gier is reported to have offered payment not only of the taxes due, but also of the penalties, Collector McLaughlin is said to have refused to accept the money, under specific orders from Washington.

McLaughlin today will take over, from the prohibition department, possession of Gier's Oakland property. This is done under provisions of the internal revenue regulations, that the property of persons and corporations failing to pay revenue taxes, is seizable.

BIG S. F. SEIZURE.

Developments in the Gier case shared interest yesterday with the seizure, in San Francisco, of Scotch whisky to the value of $108,000. Part of this consignment was seized as it was about to be loaded on a truck of the "Olsen Fish Co." 598 Clay street, to which address it came recently from Seattle in barrels marked "fish." Another truck, loaded with 110 cases of whisky, was seized by police officers, who arrested its driver, William Rentmeister. Beyond stating that he had brought the whisky from Petaluma for the truck company which employs him, Rentmeister made no disclosure. His truck had been trailed from the Bolinas bay region in the company of another truck, equally loaded, but this machine escaped in a wild chase across country. Federal officials state. The "Olsen Fish Company" afterwards proved to be a fictitious address, and another 61 barrels of "fish" were seized at the warehouse, where the whisky had been stored.

Officials believe that the liquor shipped as "fish" comes from British Columbia. The liquor seized on the trucks from Bolinas bay is thought to have been landed from two fishing vessels, which unloaded it from a schooner.

The recent plot to rob the Elbert street warehouse in San Francisco of $250,000 worth of liquor, may be placed before the county grand jury by District Attorney Matthew Brady, that official announced yesterday. Three San Francisco police officers have been dismissed in connection with this plot, after they were found guilty by the police commission of aiding in the conspiracy.

BARN IS BURNED.
FAIRFIELD, May 18.—Dave Fitchett, Suisun Valley rancher, suffered a loss of approximately $8000 when his barn with ten tons of hay, one auto truck, and harness burned to the ground. Fitchett was awakened to find his barn ablaze and rushed out in time to his horse and cow.

SHOOT'S WIFE, KILLS SELF.
SEATTLE, May 19.—Captain Robert Cornell, 29, of the tugboat

Ishum and distinguished war veteran, died this morning from the effects of a bullet he fired into his own head last night on a street intersection in the business section. Mrs. Elizabeth Cornell, his wife, victim of his first bullet, is in the city hospital hovering between life and death.

SEWING CLUB PARTY.
RICHMOND, May 19.—The Star Sewing club, composed of ladies of Miramar Chapter, 8, 2, 8, entertained this afternoon with a whist party at Masonic hall. A large attendance was reported.

What's Happening in the Motor World

If you get stuck somewhere on the road on June 11th, it will be real fine if you can walk to Ramona Park, situated between Danville and San Ramon on the Dublin-Walnut Creek highway, because there you will find all the automotive "brains" of the Eastbay counties.

The Alameda County Automobile Trade Association has set June 11th as the day for its annual picnic and from present plans this picnic will be one of the greatest ever held. Ramona Park has just been taken over by Paul Nutting, well known Oakland man, who has spent much money in improving and cleaning it.

The automobile men are planning a day of recreation including a baseball game in the morning, and then athletic events for men and women in the afternoon. There will be races for fat ladies and thin ones, for fat men and there.

S. P. Moves to Halt Paving at Tracy

STOCKTON, May 19.—The Southern Pacific Company yesterday began legal proceedings here in an effort to halt street paving in Tracy, on the grounds that the proceedings taken by the city officials of Tracy are invalid and insufficient. The work is destined to cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. The railroad company would, if the undertaking were carried out, be obliged to pay its share of the paving bill as a property owner.

thin ones, and the winners of each event will compete in the finals. Jack Bowers, chairman of the event, has his committees working hard to make the picnic a great success. There will be prizes for all races and enough to make anyone who competes happy. All sorts of oil and automobile accessories will be offered to the winners.

Bob Martland, the genial secretary-manager of the association, is going ahead with plans and has the co-operation of every member. "It will be a huge affair and practically every automobile man in this part of the country will be there."

MAYOR'S BROTHER DIES.

NEWMAN, May 19.—George C. Tinnin, brother of Mayor W. H. Tinnin of Newman, died in Newman this morning after a long illness. He was a native of San Ramon.

Steamer Helpless In Gulf of Mexico.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 19 (By International News Service).—The steamship Jane Lew, bound from Savannah to New Orleans, is helpless in the Gulf of Mexico and drifting at the rate of three miles an hour, according to wireless messages received at the station here.

The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa and the wrecking tug Willett have gone to the Jane Lew's assistance.

FALL KILLS PLASTERER.

STOCKTON, May 19.—C. A. Beckett, plasterer, fell from a ten-foot scaffold yesterday afternoon and was killed. He struck on his head, breaking his neck and crushing his head on a concrete wall.

You don't have to buy, and it's not imposing on any Columbia Dealer to ask him to play records for you.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY
New York

YOU who read this may or may not be a "tired American business man," but anyway you enjoy a good laugh occasionally. It is good for you, too. The most comfortable place to laugh is in your favorite easy-chair at home. The surest way to laugh is to listen to song hits and comics on the latest Columbia Records.

The most popular stars in the most popular shows make their records for Columbia, and Columbia Records repeat the piece to you in a way that is enough to make the artist jealous. You will agree that New Process Columbia Records are somehow different—and better.

One great thing about a Columbia Record is that you can try it before you buy it. You can't read a book to see if you like it well enough to buy. But you can—and all over America millions of people do—go to a place where Columbia Records are sold and hear the ones you are interested in.

It is a pleasant habit, and you are invited to acquire it, this plan of dropping in at a Columbia Dealer's place every few weeks and keeping up to date in the latest hits. Why not start right away?

FREMONT HIGH BAND CANNOT PLAY SUNDAYS

Union Musicians Say Week Day Performance Would Not Be Competing.

The Musicians' Union of the bay region will not permit the band of Fremont High school to play at a proposed series of Sunday concerts in Brookdale park, according to a statement made last night before the Oakland Board of Education by H. W. Roebke, business representative of the Alameda county branch, Musicians' Union, Local 6.

Roebke told the meeting that the union considered such Sunday concerts by school bands in public parks would compete with the Lakeside Park concert, which is sponsored by professional musicians and members of the union.

Following a discussion, it was found to be the consensus of opinion among the members of the board that there could be no real objection to the appearance of the Fremont School band at a week-day community concert. It was decided to inform the Leona Heights Improvement club, which has sponsored the community concerts, to that effect.

According to the secretary of the board of education, Business Representative Roebke, satisfied the board that the Musicians' union would not object to the appearance of the Fremont band at the school fete in the park on the night of Friday, May 26.

George P. Keyes, president of the Leona Heights Improvement club, was also present at the meeting.

NATIONS MUST GUARD PROPERTY, HUGHES ASSERTS

International Obligations Are Vital in Intercourse of Nations.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Recognition of valid titles acquired in accordance with existing law and the maintenance of the sanctity of contracts, and of adequate means for enforcing them, is a fundamental question at this time in connection with the preservation of the essential basis of international intercourse. Secretary of State Hughes declared in an address last night before the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"Nations may adopt what policies they please for the future conduct of their local affairs," he added, "but if they seek intercourse they must perform international obligations."

"When they have invited intercourse with other nations, have established their laws under which contracts have been made, and property rights validly acquired, they put themselves outside the pale of international intercourse if they enter upon a policy of confiscation."

CLOSING SESSION. The address was delivered at the concluding session of the convention, which was marked this afternoon by an address by President Harding. During the day Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, Minn., was elected president and other officers were selected as follows: Vice-president for the Eastern States: A. C. Bedford, New York; Northern States: Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago; Southern States: Harry Black, Galveston; Western States: Thomas B. Stearns, Denver. Honorary vice-presidents: William Butterworth, Moline, Ill.; E. B. Gillette, Minneapolis; Charles Nagel, St. Louis; and A. B. Farquhar of York, Pa.

Directors elected included Clyde C. Dawson, Denver; O. M. Clark, Portland, Oregon; Arthur A. Root, Los Angeles; Fred H. Mann, Devils Lake, N. D.; and Carl R. Gray, Omaha.

CONFERENCE METHODS. Discussing the international conference as a method of negotiation, Hughes said it "is largely successful in inverse proportion to its number and to the extent that it represents the common purpose of a few who are interested in a particular problem and sincerely wish to find an appropriate method of solution."

The diplomacy of Democratic peoples, he said at another point.

should be open, candid and direct. "The difficulty, however," he added, "of maintaining an enlightened public opinion with respect to international matters is very great and it has been increased in this country by the lack of general interest, at least until very recently, in foreign affairs. . . . We have only begun to think internationally and we find the attitude of the public mind to be still ill-adjusted to the magnitude of our financial power and to the international interests which we have suddenly accumulated as the result of the world war."

NO SECRET PACTS. "I am glad to say that in the dealings of this government with other powers there are no intrigues, no hidden purposes, no deceptions," he said.

He appealed for the support of businessmen, "for the most efficient organization of our diplomatic agencies," saying "the truth is our foreign service is undermined and underpaid."

This applied also to the state department, he added. "There is need of more and better paid officials to handle important matters."

Alleged Indecent Play to Be Probed

NEW YORK, May 19.—Chief City Magistrate McAdoo has requested Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, for a copy of the manuscript of Eugene O'Neill's play "The Hairy Ape," in order that he might ascertain whether the play was "impure, obscene and indecent." He said that complaints concerning the play, now having a Broadway run, had been received from members of the police department and others.

Wife Out Late, Man Charges in Complaint

MARTINEZ, May 19.—Charging that his wife attended dances from three to five nights a week and remained away from home until late hours, kept the company of other men and carried on clandestine correspondence and failed to come from Los Angeles to Richmond, where her husband had established his home for nine months, Howard Martin Barnhard today filed suit for divorce against Marjorie Rosend Barnhard. They married in 1914 and have a daughter, aged six years. Barnhard declares in his suit that he remonstrated with his wife at her late hours and company of other men, but that he was told it was "none of his business." He declares his wife left Richmond February 15 and is now in Los Angeles.

A BEAUTIFUL PEACOCK

As I sat dreaming about my future home on the half acre which I had just purchased, I fancied that I was the head of a huge Peacock, as I looked down behind me I saw my outspread tail like a great fan glittering in the sun. It seemed to include all Oakland.

There on the left lay a great beautiful feather—Fruitvale adjoining it was another—Fourth Ave. Heights—then Indian Glen and Crocker Highlands.

Directly in the middle was the most beautiful feather of all; Lake Merritt—then came Piedmont just below, then Rockridge and Claremont and the last feather of my tail was Berkeley.

It made me as proud as any Peacock that ever lived to feel that this was mine—all mine—this wonderful plumage—My City, Oakland.

My fan tail seemed to rest on great green lawn—the Bay of San Francisco, with a violet grey background—Mount Tamalpais and the Marin County shore extending to north as far as the eye could see. Then San Francisco and down the Peninsula until one could fancy they saw San Jose.

The sky was turning to molten gold as the sun, a great ball of fire, seemed to sink into the ocean just outside the Golden Gate.

Was my dream really true, could it be possible that this wonderful homesite was mine? Yes—I had the deed to it, though I had only paid a small amount down, agreeing to pay ten dollars a month on the balance until paid.

MONTCLAIR

I want my friends that are living in apartments in San Francisco to come over before the end of the week, for next Sunday the Realty Syndicate Co. is to have a Sale at Montclair and I want them to select one of these choice half acres near mine before they are all sold. It is only 45 minutes to San Francisco from here—closer than Berkeley or Fruitvale—in fact, my lot is as close to the Oakland City Hall as Fruitvale Ave. on the east or 60th St. on the north. It only takes me twelve minutes to drive down and eighteen minutes if I take the Traction Co. Bus and only one fare.

I am well pleased with the building activity in Montclair, and the fine type of homes that they are, for this is a restricted residential district.

I would advise you to visit this wonderful property at once—select your homesite now before it is too late. These lots range from a quarter acre to one acre—a quarter acre is equal to four city lots and are priced from five hundred dollars up—on such terms that no one need hesitate.

Call Lakeside 1600—the Realty Syndicate Co. will be pleased to send a representative to show you the property at any time, you will be under no obligation to buy. Don't forget the Sale Sunday—take the Piedmont Ave. car, transfer at 40th St. to the Montclair bus. Realty Syndicate Company, 1440 Broadway, Oakland, California.

FACE FULL OF LARGE PIMPLES

Also Blackheads, Burned Very Badly, Cuticura Healed.

"My face was full of pimples and blackheads. The pimples were hard and large and sometimes very red. They burned very badly and often caused sleeplessness on account of the irritation. I tried different remedies but nothing did any good. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which helped me so I bought more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Mary E. Guadagnoli, Priest River, Idaho, Sept. 13, 1921.

These fragrant emollients are all you need for all toilet purposes. Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal, Talcum to powder and perfume.

OFFICERS FOIL PLOT TO SLAY BEBE DANIELS

Man Found in Home of Film Star, Went from S. F. to Kill Her, He Says.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 19.—Deputy sheriffs who, answering a midnight call that there was a man in the residence of Bebe Daniels, motion picture actress, intent upon murdering her, found Charles Caprice. They arranged to take him today to the psychopathic ward to determine his mental condition. Caprice, who surrendered without resistance, said that he came from San Francisco for the "express purpose" of slaying the motion picture actress, under threats and pay of "Pete McNamara," a peddler of narcotics at San Francisco. He said that McNamara obtained "something on him" nine years ago, in a smuggling plot and that he had been forced into "the life of slave" since then. He was found in the living room of the Daniels' residence.

Family, Robbed of Home by Flames, Appeal for Help

With all her worldly possessions destroyed by fire, her husband crippled and able to earn but little, and her three small children suffering from cold and hunger, Mrs. Joseph E. Martin of 724 Fifth street, has appealed to the public for aid. Mrs. Martin lost everything in a fire which destroyed her residence at 301 Castro street several days ago. Neighbors, divided quarters for the stricken family, but according to Mrs. Martin there is dire need for many essentials.

"At the present time we have but one bed and a heating stove," said Mrs. Martin today. "If some of the more fortunate Oaklanders could give us a bed, a cooking stove, a bed for the children and some cast off garments and bed clothes we will be able to weather the storm."

Martin is a peddler. They have three children—Robert, aged six, Joseph, three and a half, and Charles two.

FINAL REHEARSAL FOR PLAY IS HELD

Final rehearsals were held yesterday for "The Piper" the Josephine Preston Cabody prize play, which will be presented at the annual mountain play on Mount Tamalpais on Sunday afternoon. The cast includes more than 100 amateurs and professionals in northern California who are being directed by Garnet Holme. Dan Totheroh will impersonate the Piper made famous in the Browning poem and retold in the Peabody drama. Leading roles will be assumed by Katharine Edson, Mae O'Keefe, Emma Niox, Virginia Pomeroy, Baldwin McGraw, Frederick Smith. A large company of children have been recruited to take part in the play.

The amphitheater on Mount Tamalpais in which the mountain plays are given was presented to the association by William Kent. Its stage is 100 feet above sea level and commands a vista of hills and bay.

Persons attending the production are advised to take the 7:45 a. m. or 8:45 a. m. Sausalito ferry from San Francisco. The amphitheater however, may be reached in ample time by those going on the 9:45 a. m. or 10:45 a. m. boats. From Mill Valley the theater may be reached by train to West Point and a walk of a mile over a good trail.

HUNT BEGINS FOR TEACHER AND BOY WHO FLED LODI

Parents of Ray Fry, 16, Believe He Married Woman, 3; Ask Search.

LODI, May 19.—At the request of his father, a State-wide search is being made today for Ray Fry, 16, who disappeared from this city yesterday with his 33-year-old school teacher, Miss May Stamp, who was recently dismissed from a local grammar school. The parents of the boy believe that he and the young woman were secretly married prior to their hasty departure. Belief was expressed today that the couple left for Oakland, San Francisco, or Los Angeles.

At the time of their departure an agent of the probation office at Stockton was on his way here to take Fry into custody. Orders that they both be held if apprehended were issued from the probation office at Stockton today.

Miss Stamp was dismissed from her position at a meeting of the town board of trustees last Saturday when Fry's mother appeared before the board and asked if something could not be done to prevent the association of Miss Stamp and her son. Later the boy, according to his father, informed the mother that he and his teacher had been married, and that "he would go through hell for her."

Miss Stamp left the city either Wednesday night or yesterday morning without collecting a month's salary due her from the Lodi board of education. She left one suitcase in her room and the proprietor of the rooming house says he will not allow her to return because of the notoriety she has gained.

IF BACHACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

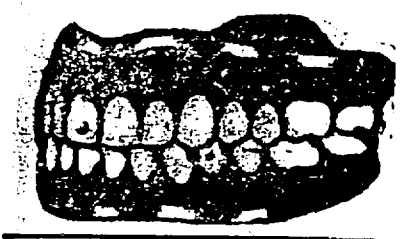

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's uric waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also act from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effort, makes a delightful effort everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folk who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

TURK MASSACRE TALES IMPERIL U. S. RELIEF JOBS

Report of Christian Murders Arouse Wrath of Nationalist Party.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Publication of reports by American relief workers in the interior of Asia Minor concerning the systematic persecution of Christians by the Turkish nationalists has jeopardized the position of the workers, it is declared in American missionary circles here. Many of these reports had been submitted confidentially to the League of Nations, and it is believed that prompt and energetic action by the powers is necessary to assure the safety of the agents, now that publicity has been given to their evidence. The missionaries corroborate the stories of atrocities, especially the progress of the so-called white massacres, which consist of driving various of Christians from place to place until they die from sickness, famine or exhaustion. The statement issued by the Turkish Nationalist representatives here that some of the missionaries and relief workers denied the reported atrocities is declared by the missionary authorities to be a fabrication.

School Addition To Cost $76,280

LODI, May 19.—The newest addition to the city's schools will cost $76,280, announces the board of trustees, which has just opened bids. This is considerably less than the architect's estimate. Significant of the times is the fact that nearly forty contractors bid on various parts of the job, whereas a year ago the board would have been well satisfied with half a dozen bids. The board has not let the contract, however. No name for the school has been chosen, but Washington is heard of oftenest, with Garfield a close second.

Men are now busy building the new tract office at Montclair, which will be of the old Spanish style of architecture with its winding paths, loggias, shrubbery, etc. They hope to have it finished in time for the sale in Montclair Sunday. Take Piedmont avenue car, transfer to Montclair bus at Fortieth street direct to sale.—Advertisement.

$750,000 DAMAGE DONE BY FLOODS FROM COLORADO

Town of Ripley Still Under From 4 to 8 Feet of Water; 500 Homeless.

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Damage estimated at between $650,000 and $750,000 was done in the town of Ripley and adjacent sections of the Palo Verde valley when the Colorado river broke through a levee near that town Monday, according to despatches from Blythe, Calif., seven miles north of Ripley. The despatches declared approximately 30,000 acres had been inundated and that 7000 acres of that was laid under cultivation.

The town of Ripley was declared still under from four to eight feet of water and 500 people said to be homeless and making their way to and through Blythe. William Walls, superintendent of water distribution for the Palo Verde Water company, was quoted as expressing his belief the crest of the flood had not been reached, and that two feet more might be expected within a month, thus increasing the area inundated. In the center of the town of Ripley, the Ripley hotel, a structure valued at $200,000, is said to stand in four feet of water, every business house is reported flooded and most of the residences are in similar condition. The town of Palo Verde is also reported inundated.

RADIO BANISHES LAKE SUPERIOR SHIP GRAVEYARD

Wireless Compass Now Directs Vessels Past Rock-Ridden Bay.

GREAT LAKES NAVAL TRAINING STATION, GREAT LAKES, Ill., May 19 (By The Associated Press).—Out on the fog-wrapped wastes of Lake Superior, giant ore and grain laden freighters are rolling eastward down the lakes, past their upmost coal-carrying sisters, with only a derisive snort for the hidden rocks of Whitefish Bay, the "grave yard of the ships."

For the first time since Jesuit Fathers, in frail canoes, ventured across the uncharted lakes, navigation on Lake Superior has been robbed of its terrors. On May 14 the first naval radio compass station on the lakes opened at Whitefish point to direct the passing ships by radio.

At any hour of the day or night the captain of a ship lost in the swirling fog banks can call the radio station and ask his position. An instant later the call will come back giving the ship's direction from Whitefish Point for the vessel's navigator to plot on his chart. Within three weeks two more radio compass stations will open.

The grave yard of the lakes, where lie the skeletons of untold scores of ships, stretches from Whitefish bay to Grand Marais, the nearest port of refuge to the west. The sixty miles of desolate water, rimmed by sand dunes and lonely forests has claimed an annual toll of ships and lives and cargo since navigation opened on the upper lakes. One vessel, a Canadian light-house tender, went down off Whitefish Point in a storm a few weeks ago with nineteen men.

Appropriations for Radio Aid Lauded

Additional appropriations for the carrying on of radio work will greatly aid the Sixth district in broadening its scope of activities, according to Major J. P. Dillon, radio inspector.

The local department has heretofore been severely handicapped in making the proper inspections due to lack of funds. The increase in our allotment for the coming year will undoubtedly add greatly to our facilities.

Four States, California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah, are included in the confines of the Sixth district. Due to the remarkable growth of the radio industry and the great increase in the number of broadcast stations, frequent tours of inspection are, of course, necessary. We now hope to be able to make the rounds regularly.

Realty Men's Train Has Radio Outfit

CHICAGO, May 19.—Aboard a radio-equipped special train described as the finest that ever departed from Chicago, 118 members of the Chicago real estate board are scheduled to leave tonight for San Francisco, to attend the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards from May 31 to June 3. Eighty-seven women and eight children are to accompany the realtors.

Most of the millionaire members of the board have signed up for the trip and 31 of them are to visit Alaska before returning to Chicago. Other side trips, including a 400-mile automobile trip to Los Angeles have been arranged for the party.

THE TRIBUNE radio department will be glad to furnish information to anyone contemplating the purchase or construction of a radio receiving set. Anyone wishing to obtain information on the most reliable places where radio receiving sets may be purchased, or the most reliable manufacturers of radio sets, must call in person, as the questions will not be answered in the TRIBUNE. Dozens of such questions are received daily, but can not be answered in the questions and answers column.

Governor, Mayor To Speak by Radio

Governor William J. Stephens and Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco are scheduled to address the Daylight Post of the American Legion in San Francisco tonight via radiophone. According to the announcement, Governor Stephens and Mayor Rolph will speak onto the ether waves from the Rockridge radio station.

Instead of using the magnavox at the banquet of the Legion, which will be held at the Bellevue hotel, the Legion men will listen in on the addresses on individual headphones, which will be found at each plate. This novel way of providing receivers for each individual in place of the magnavox was decided upon following recent demonstrations with the magnavox, when the music did not come in as well as expected.

S. F. Radio Club to Have Open Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—A public meeting of the San Francisco Radio Club will be held at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Engineers' club, 57 Post street. Prominent radio men will speak and a demonstration on the big radio receiving set recently installed in the club will be given.

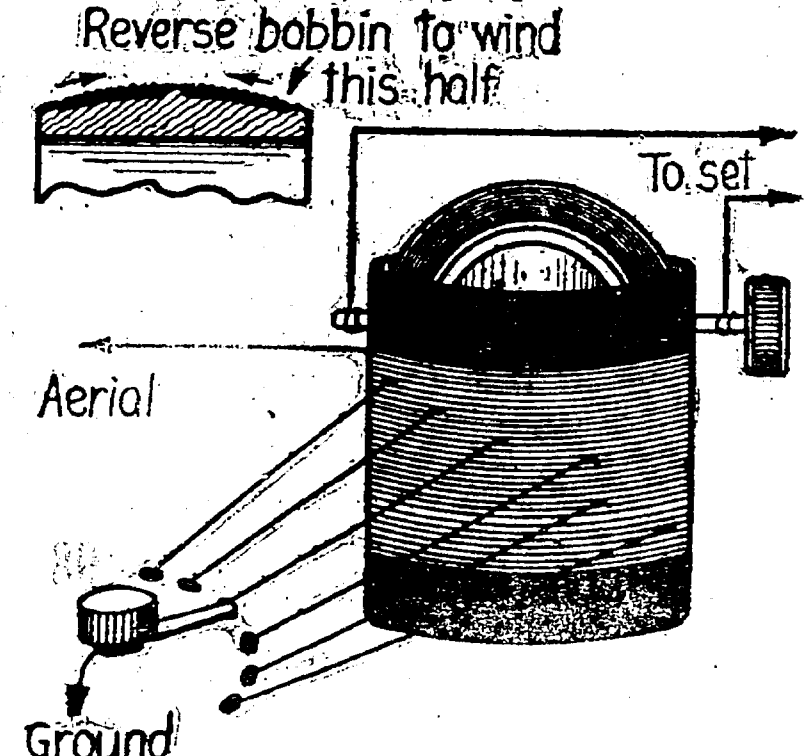

Major J. P. Dillon, radio inspector for the Sixth district, will be the principal speaker. He will be followed by D. B. McGowan, assistant radio inspector, who will talk on the relation of the amateur to radio.

Max Loewenthal, secretary of the Pacific Radio Association, will outline the future possibilities of radio development. The public is invited to attend the meeting, especially the amateur radio operators in the bay region.

Here Are Directions to Make a Vario-Coupler

Due to the scarcity of radio material and prevailing prices, it is sometimes necessary for the amateur to make his own apparatus. The TRIBUNE has published, from time to time, plans for home manufacture. The instrument described today is the vario-coupler.

A cardboard or primary outside tube is used, measuring five and one-half inches high and four and one-half inches in diameter. The tube is wound with one layer, four inches long, of No. 22 insulated wire, preferably single silk covered. This primary winding is divided up into sections about one-half an inch in length and a tap left by twisting the wire, as shown in the accompanying diagram. These taps may be made all in a row or staggered, as shown in the diagram.

Afterward a multiple point switch is connected up to the successive taps in the manner indicated in the drawing. The tuning of the circuit is accomplished by variable condensers, one of these being connected either in series or in parallel with the primary winding. As the wave length is changed by altering either the capacity or the inductance, or both, it is therefore seen that the intermediate tuning between the two can be compensated for by adjusting the variable condenser. The tuning is also affected by changing the position of the rotary secondary coil wound on a wooden bobbin in the manner shown.

Where these bobbins are not available from your local radio supply store, they may be turned

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: How many turns of wire on each coil of 1000 ohm phone, or 1500 ohm phone?

JACK DTRIKER.
2727 Twenty-fifth avenue, Oakland.

The number of turns would be governed by the type of magnet, size of wire, etc. Various types of phones have magnets of different sizes.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) Please let me know if the enclosed hook-up is all right.

(2) Should the antenna condenser be 45-plate or 25-plate?

(3) About how far should I be able to receive radiophone concerts with an antenna 45 feet high at one end and 55 feet high at the other, having four strands 10 feet long, spaced two feet apart.

(4) Would two variometers and a variable condenser be better than the two variable condensers and the vario-coupler?

1. Yes, your hook-up is O. K. We have added a ground connection and the diagram will be returned by mail.

2. 45-plate.

3. About 50 miles.

4. Yes.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: Enclosed find 2-cent stamp for mailing of The TRIBUNE broadcasting schedule, for all stations. Also I would like you to furnish me with data on "hook-up" and I think that what it is called, or perhaps it is known as a "cage."

GEORGE CASI.
Irvington.

A cage type may be constructed by connecting ten or twelve No. 11 copper wires together at each end, then spreading them by placing a hoop at each end and one in the center. The wires should be spaced equally on the periphery of the hoop, forming the "cage." Any strong metal from one to two feet in diameter will do. A lead-in should be taken off at one end, where the wires are connected together.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) How far can I hear with a set consisting of a Remier detector panel with 60 plate antenna condenser, 2500 ohm phones (double), loose coupler, variable condenser (1000 M. P. D.), and aerial 60 feet long and 40 feet high, three wires, and a good ground connection?

(2) How far could I hear if I added two variometers to the above set?

3. How far could I hear if I added a bulb amplifier to the set? Please state the distance for both radio phone music and telegraph.

4. Do power lines that have no current running through them have any bad effects on an aerial?

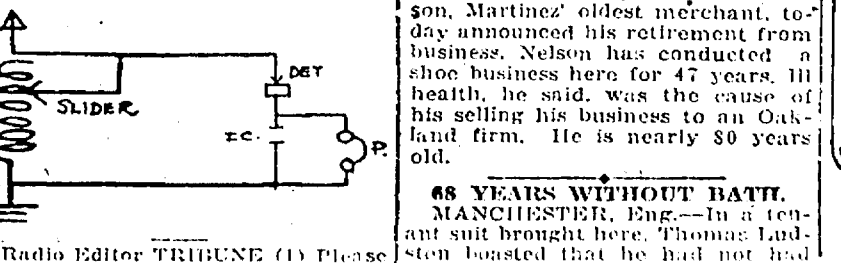

5. What wave length is music sent out on?

FRANK LITCHFIELD.
157 Matheson Building, Cal.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I constructed crystal detector set, the hook-up of which is shown on the enclosed diagram. I am using a 100 foot long, 40 feet high and I am using Murdock phones of 3000 ohms. Some way another the set does not work at all. Could you tell me what could be wrong with it?

H. M. Salinas, Cal.

You did not send the diagram. We do not know the conditions surrounding the installation of your set. It would be difficult and not advisable to guess at the trouble. Be sure that your antenna and ground joints are soldered. The correct hook-up is given below.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) Please give me complete instructions for a

The Audio Frequency Amplifier. (Copyright by Edward M. Davis.) (All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited.)

The audio frequency amplifier derives its name from the fact that it is employed to increase the strength of the radio signal in a receiving system after the signal has been converted from a radio frequency into an audio frequency by the action of the detector tube. In its simplest form the audio frequency amplifier consists of an audio frequency amplifying transformer designed for this purpose and the necessary vacuum tube of the amplifier type with the usual filament current regulating rheostat and socket. Such a combination of apparatus is known as a single step or stage of amplification and a receiving system which makes use of two such units is said to contain a two-step audio frequency amplifier.

It is impractical to use more than two or three steps or stages of audio-frequency amplification, due to the tendency of additional stages to over-amplify noises developed in the tube itself and dis-desired to receive louder signals or signals from stations which cannot be heard with a detector and one or two stages of audio-frequency amplification it is necessary to resort to radio-frequency amplification.

The audio-frequency amplifying transformer consists of a small transformer usually of the shell type, having a laminated core of the best grade of silicon steel. The ratio of secondary turns to primary turns varies with the different manufacturers, but is usually about nine to one. The primary of the transformer is connected to the plate circuit of the detector tube, while the secondary is connected to the grid circuit of the next tube, the amplifier tube.

The frequency range of the signals passing through the windings of the audio-frequency amplifying transformer is very small compared to the frequency range of the signals which flow through the windings of radio frequency amplifying transformers. Unlike radio frequency amplifiers, transformers which must be designed for the particular frequency on which they are to be employed, a standard audio-frequency amplifying transformer may be used which covers the entire range of audio frequencies.

A horn may be attached to the telephone receiver to throw the amplified signal out into the room, such a device being referred to as a loud speaker. Such a device can only be employed satisfactorily where one or two stages of amplification are used, the energy in the plate circuit of a single detector tube being too small for this purpose.

It is possible with a single stage of audio frequency to obtain an

Book Fair Will Be Annual Event

SAN JOSE, May 19.—Considered one of the most successful ventures ever undertaken here and assured as an annual feature event in the calendar life of the community, the first great Book Fair to be staged by members of the local branch of the National League of American Pen Women last night became a pleasant memory and an inspiration to those sponsoring it and the thousands who attended it.

The fair, staged in the lanai of the Hotel Vendome, drew a fashionable throng yesterday afternoon and last night, every inch of room in the big building being taken up by the crowd. The musical and entertainment program, together with several speeches by noted authors, was carried out before an appreciative audience.

2800 PENNIES CACHED DURING WAR PROSPERITY

ROME, Ga., May 20.—Dallas Gilmes, negro, did not buy any silk shirts or throw money to the winds when the World War was on and people acted like money was cheap. Police discovered the extent of his savings when they searched his premises for liquor and found instead a jug containing 2,800 pennies. The negro told them that he buried the jug of pennies in his back yard during the war, with the idea that it might be useful later on. He had just dug it up, he told the raiders, fearing someone would discover its hiding place.

Graduates Are Luncheon Guests at Club

The Claremont Country club was the scene of an elaborate luncheon yesterday afternoon when the members of this year's graduating class were entertained by Miss Mary Wilson, principal of Miss Ida's school. Last evening an alumnae dinner was an interesting feature of the semester, when many of the former pupils of the school met for their annual reunion.

Mrs. Frank Hunt Proctor of Crocker Highlands presided over one of the handsomely appointed teas of May at her home today, the affair in the nature of a farewell to Mrs. William Griffith Henshaw and her daughter, Mrs. Alla Henshaw Chickering, both of whom are to sail the first week in June for Europe. Before the tea Mrs. George Hammer gave a luncheon at her home for Mrs. Chickering. Assisting Mrs. Proctor to receive her guests were Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, Mrs. Daniel Volkmann, Mrs. Harry Mosher, Mrs. Charles Clarke Keeney, Mrs. Fritz Tubbs Henshaw, Mrs. Stuart Hawley, Mrs. George Hammer, Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. Henry Rey Sander, Mrs. Victor H. Metcalf, Mrs. Leon Clark, Mrs. Kenneth Lowden, Mrs. Charles D. Bates Jr., Mrs. William Forsythe Williamson, Mrs. Harry East Miller and Mrs. Harry Weihe.

Mrs. Harris Cabert Capwell returned yesterday from Europe, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Reginald Bifford Crockett in Spain. Later in the year Mrs. Capwell will go to Honolulu to visit another daughter, Mrs. Frederick Seydel.

TO HAVE GUESTS AT CLUB.
Miss Marina de Lopez will entertain at the Claremont Country club, May 25, at luncheon and bridge in honor of Miss Maud Hind, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Hind of The Uplands. Places will be set for thirty-five guests. Miss Lopez makes her home with her aunt, Mrs. De Reynier, in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mosher hosts at an informal dinner this week, a number of their close friends sharing their hospitality at their home in Linda Vista.

WEDS ON GRADUATION DAY.
Commencement day was also the wedding day of Miss Alpha Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Knox of Santa Ana, and Melvin Salveson, the ceremony taking place at 3:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church with Rev. Clifford Barry officiating before a company of relatives and friends.

The couple left for Yosemite for their honeymoon. They will make their home near Anaheim, where Salveson is owner of an orange orchard.

The bride wore a gown of beige georgette with hat to match. Sweet peas and lilies of the valley were carried in the shower bouquet.

Mrs. Raymond Wilson was hostess Wednesday at Rosemont for about forty friends, entertaining at tea in honor of Mrs. Frank Stringham. Receiving with the hostess were Mrs. Thomas Arthur Rickard, Mrs. William Olney, Mrs. A. O. Leuschner, Mrs. Allen Freeman, Mrs. J. C. Sperry, Mrs. Frank Glass and Mrs. Albert Clark.

Mrs. James Tyson entertained friends at luncheon today at the Francisco club across the bay. May 23 the hostess will give a similar affair at that club.

FILM ACTRESS BARRED.
NEW YORK, May 19.—Marie Mathers, Berlin, motion picture actress, who came here on the steamship America to be married, was excluded by Ellis Island authorities on the ground that she was likely to become a public charge. When she tried to leave the vessel she was "financed" by a married man, immigration officers say.

CHRONIC DYSPEPSIA AND NERVOUSNESS SOON ENDED WHEN HE BEGAN TAKING TANLAC, DECLARES PACKARD—GAINS IN WEIGHT.

"I've never allowed my name to be used in connection with a medicine, but I feel it a duty for me to tell of my experience with Tanlac," said D. S. Packard, U. S. Customs Inspector, 267 Ninth St., San Pedro, Calif.

"I have been something of a chronic dyspeptic nearly all my life, but about a year ago I had to take an unusually hard trip that went against me so I actually felt off ten pounds in weight. My stomach got all out of order, I had no appetite, my nerves were shattered, and it looked like I would never get straight again.

"My wife finally made me take Tanlac, and it is simply astonishing the way it brought me out. I've gained eight pounds in weight and am a better man physically than I've been for years. It's a pleasure to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Roger Chickering will be hosts at dinner at the Claremont Country club, this being one of the parties preceding the regular dinner dance at the clubhouse.

May 31 is the date set for the marriage of Miss Beatrice Austin and Major Robert Ross Welshner of San Francisco, the ceremony to be read at the Austin home in San Francisco. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Thomas and Miss Dorothy Cleland.

Major Welshner is a graduate of Annapolis and the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

LITTLE HOPE OF DISARMAMENT, LEAGUE THINKS

GENEVA, May 19.—(By the Associated Press).—The nations of Europe are in no mood to disarm, or even substantially reduce the size of their armies, and no material progress toward the reduction of land armaments can be looked for during the next three or four years.

Such is the opinion of the disarmament experts of the League of Nations and the members of the temporary mixed commission on armaments, which is the instrument through which the league has been trying for the last two years to make some headway in the direction of world disarmament.

Only twenty replies have been received to the questionnaire sent out nearly eight months ago by the league to its fifty-one members asking for details of information on the present size of armies, the amount of war material on hand and contemplated reductions. All the big world powers, with the exception of Russia and the United States, to whom the questionnaire was not sent, have, in the opinion of the experts, replied with reasonable frankness.

Mrs. Blake's Favorite Recipe for Carnation Ice Cream

I have found this simple recipe makes a delicious and wholesome ice cream—economical, too.

1 cup water, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups Carnation Milk.

Add the sugar to the milk and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Add the vanilla and freeze. Use three parts ice and one part salt in freezing. This recipe makes one quart.

---we are right after last month's record--- One Carload of Meadow Lark WASHING MACHINES sold in less than thirty days!

You will have to act quickly if you want one out of this car!

THE MEADOW LARK combines every essential feature of the cylinder and the oscillating type of Washing Machines, with many new and advanced improvements. The MEADOW LARK WASHING MACHINE has truly made a place for itself. This type of machine is considered to be the most efficient type of washers.

THE MEADOW LARK is silent—in fact so much so that you are unable to tell if the machine is running unless you see the cylinder moving.

NO VIBRATION—In eliminating this feature of washing machines you have added many years' life to your machine—then, too, you can operate this machine in an apartment without complaint.

THE CONSTRUCTION of the MEADOW LARK is one of the most important features: Full cabinet type, flat table top, removable cover, large, easy rolling casters, sanitary self-cleaning wooden or zinc cylinder, heavy galvanized Armco steel frame, Armco rust-resisting steel sides, standard 1/4 H.P. motor, removable full swing wringer, positive roll release, instant resetting rolls.

"When better appliances are made, Pollard will carry them." Call Oakland 1274 for demonstration in your home.

Everstick Suction Plate Trubyte Teeth

In constructing artificial dentures it is most important to restore the natural expression. This can be done by the classification of face forms, which include, square, tapering and ovoid type of face. Then harmony of form between faces and teeth.

Trubyte Teeth are the only Teeth made that are lifelike in appearance, and have a natural blending color. Their sizes and forms, when properly selected for the type of face to which you belong, positively assures you a perfect reproduction of your natural teeth. Trubyte Teeth are used in all plates made in our office.

Our Everstick Suction Plate we positively guarantee to remain in position while eating, laughing, or in fact to be used the same as your natural teeth without any discomfort.

BIDDLE TO HEAD NEW MILLION-DOLLAR BANK

New Institution to Be Known as Commercial Trust and Savings Bank.

The resignation of Samuel E. Biddle as manager of the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy to head a new million dollar bank for Oakland was announced today. The new banking institution is to be known as the Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, and will be located at 1556 Broadway, where the Hotel Athens now stands.

The new bank has been authorized by the state superintendent of banks, and is headed by a number of prominent financiers of the bay district. Biddle is president of the new institution, having been elected to that position at a meeting of the board of directors last night, which is composed of Biddle, E. E. Heath, James T. Ryan, Norman De Vaux, R. Millar, A. Andrew, Joseph McInerney, D. L. Westover and D. B. Perkins. The new institution will have an authorized capital of $1,000,000.

BIDDLE WELL KNOWN. Biddle, for the past sixteen years has been located in the Eastbay region, where several years ago he became manager of the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy. He is now a director in several banks in this section of the state, including the Citizens' Savings Bank of Alameda and the Citizens National Bank of Alameda, both of which he organized. Biddle has been in the banking business in California for 24 years and is the son of one of the pioneer bankers of the state. P. Heath, 3705 Hillebrand avenue, Berkeley, one of the directors, has been associated in a number of financial enterprises in the bay region. James T. Ryan, president of the Charles Nelson Company of San Francisco, is prominent in financial circles. Norman De Vaux, who is well known in Oakland, has been associated with a number of interests here. J. R. Millar is president of the California Cotton Mills. A. Andrew, capitalist, has been associated with the Union Construction Company of Oakland for several years. Joseph McInerney, attorney for the new institution and one of the directors, is associated with the Pacific Coast Bank of San Francisco. D. B. Perkins is the Pacific Coast representative of the Burroughs-Adding Machine Co., and D. L. Westover, of San Francisco, is interested in a number of concerns.

STOCK OVERSUBSCRIBED. Practically all of the entire stock of the new banking concern has been oversubscribed, Biddle said today. Biddle's resignation from the Bank of Italy will take effect on June 1st, when the work of remodeling the Hotel Athens and transforming it into a banking institution will begin. More than $200,000 is to be spent at once in the work of remodeling the building. The new bank will be equipped with modern vaults and fireproof safes. It will have a frontage of 62 1/2 feet and a depth of 140 feet. Designs for the new bank are now en route from the east. While the work will be handled by local architects and builders, it was decided to send east for the latest designs for the new building.

The Commercial Trust and Savings Bank is the first new banking institution for Oakland in ten years, and its announcement today created a stir in financial circles.

Peace Time Red Cross Needs Told

The peacetime program of the American Red Cross was presented to members of the graduating class in public health nursing from the University of California yesterday. Miss Mary L. Cole, Pacific division, director of Public Health Nursing, was in charge of the conference. Various phases of Red Cross work were presented. R. C. Brenon, assistant manager of the Pacific Division, reviewed the development of the Red Cross Public Health program.

Petitioners Fight Erection of Stable

A petition against the erection of a stable on Fifty-fourth street between Telegraph and Shattuck was received by the city council this morning from North Oakland residents and referred to the city planning commission. The stable would be erected by the Central Shuey Creamery company.

Marcus Rice of 472 Twelfth street was given permission to erect a big illuminated street clock in front of his place.

Barred by Lords LADY RHONDDA, whose application for membership in England's upper house has been rejected.

LORDS REFUSE TO ADMIT PEERESS

BY UNITED PRESS. LONDON, May 19.—Viscountess Rhondda is not entitled to a seat in the House of Lords, the committee on privileges decided today by a vote of 20 to 9.

This decision came as a great surprise and as a shock to feminists throughout Great Britain, for previous action by the upper house of the British parliament had indicated Lady Rhondda's claim to membership in lords would be granted.

Viscountess Rhondda applied for membership in February of this year and it was indicated she would be accepted. Twenty-six other peeresses in their own right probably would have followed her lead had she been successful.

Viscountess Rhondda is a peeress in her own right because her father, the late Viscount Rhondda, who served Britain as food controller during the war, was rewarded by having the patent for his title made out for succession "male or female."

Phonograph Records Absolutely FREE

Come and Get Yours One customer yesterday took home fifteen, and twenty, and they were only a few of many others who were given free records.

If you pay $5.00 when you select your Phonograph, you are given five records without cost to you; they are yours to keep, without paying a cent for them. Very best records, too, from our regular stock—and you choose them. Pay more on your phonograph and get more records up to twenty-five—one record for every dollar paid as your first payment, balance on very easy terms.

The Phonographs are greatly reduced in price to $75 and up, because we are determined to make this month the greatest Phonograph month of the year.

One lady who bought a fine large Mahogany yesterday for $145 (reduced from $175) sent her friend at once to get one like hers, and so the sale with FREE records go on. Better come soon and get yours before stock gets low.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE IN ACTIVE FORCE

Twelve Citizens Fined for Violation of Rules on Parking.

The new traffic ordinance of Oakland is now in actual force after a month of suspended action. The first arrests were made yesterday. Today twelve citizens appeared in police court and were fined for parking their cars diagonally or oversteering the forty-minute time limit.

Special policemen now patrol the downtown streets to tag offenders of the traffic ordinance. Actual enforcement had been delayed until all the big yellow signs were in place along the streets. The signs are now up and warn everyone of the parking limits and time limits. The work to start enforcement was given yesterday afternoon by Police Chief Drew.

Twelve first victims of the new ordinance were fined $2 each on one day in jail by Police Judges Smith and Tyrrell today. All had neglected to park parallel to the curb on Broadway, except one man, who had overstayed the forty-minute limit.

"Our special men are now out to see that the ordinance is enforced rigidly," warns Sergeant Charles Hemphill of the traffic squad. "In the past this job has been done by crossings patrolmen, but the latter are busy and cannot well leave their stands. They only way to keep accurate check on machines is to have policemen watching them and tagging them. This is being done."

USES OF ADVERSITY. WILLESSEN, Eng.—Arrested for nonpayment of taxes, Henry Kronek admitted that he was getting unemployment relief and was paying for a house on installment.

In her own right because her father, the late Viscount Rhondda, who served Britain as food controller during the war, was rewarded by having the patent for his title made out for succession "male or female."

Radio Fans Still Seek Station on Roof of City Hall

Permission to use the city hall roof was sought today for the 333rd time by radio fans, who suggest that this tower be made the biggest broadcasting station on the Pacific Coast.

A delegation from Berkeley today suggested to Commissioner A. E. Carter that the cities of Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont make an inter-city radio broadcasting point of the Oakland city hall, with funds donated for that purpose by each city. Carter asserts he has this and other schemes under careful consideration.

"It is very hard to make any snap judgment on such a proposition," says Carter. "Radio is a big matter and its development is rapid. It may be that the municipalities will adopt it for a means of communication. I do not know. I am fully considering the possibilities."

"If the city hall does become a radio station, however, I believe it should be an official one. It would be unwise to give it over to any private or commercial use."

ROMINGER TELLS OF HIGH TAXES

In the interests of his campaign for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor, State Senator Joseph A. Rominger gave out the following statement yesterday while in the city:

"The great state machine of California has raised our taxes until its creators are snugly self-complacent in the face of approximately $40,000,000 added to state expense in two years, has accomplished one thing, if nothing else: it has the average voting Californian enthusiastically interested in the coming election for governor and lieutenant-governor. And this interest, let me tell you, is not a friendly interest by any means. I have been campaigning only about three weeks in the interests of my candidacy for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor, and I have been amazed at the quick response I have gotten both when meeting individuals in the rural sections and when meeting groups in the towns and cities."

THE GOLDEN TRAILS.

There is something more than a sentimental phase to the pilgrimage over the trails of the Forty-niners which started from Oakland this morning. It holds an educational and historic value.

The five-day tour will include visits to the old mining districts, where the gold that made California famous and attracted a flood of population was produced. California does well to hark back occasionally to that spectacular beginning of her glorious destiny. When we speak of the values of other products of this State of the present, the value of the gold harvest does not seem significant. But it should not be forgotten that it was gold which formed the foundation on which the greatness of California was so quickly built.

It is a commendable enterprise on the part of the Native Sons of the Golden West and the State library to make a pilgrimage to the pioneer gold districts and to mark them with enduring signs for future generations. The days of the Forty-niners constituted a constructive period as well as an heroic one. That period should not be permitted to slip into oblivion.

The tour will bring citizens of the bay cities into an amiable touch with those who live where the relics of the days of gold cast fading shadows.

THE REGULAR ARMY.

If the final decision of the Senate is reflected in the action of the Senate subcommittee on War Department appropriations, the authorized size of the regular army will be 140,000 enlisted men and 12,330 officers. The subcommittee has voted to increase the strength fixed in the House army bill by 25,000 men and 1250 officers.

This action verifies exactly the prediction made in these columns three weeks ago, when it was stated that the opinion of the Senate was that the present strength of the army should not be decreased. Incidentally the strength contemplated is very nearly that recommended by General Pershing and also about the same as authorized by the army reorganization act of 1916. The plan so far favored in the Senate thus calls for the maintenance of the army at approximately the strength before the war.

Speaking upon this subject recently, General Pershing said: "A careful consideration of the work in hand, if the initial well-laid scheme is not to be seriously crippled and many essential activities abandoned, leads inevitably to the conclusion that any further reduction would be disastrous." He was referring to the National Defense Act now in force. President Harding, in one of his messages to Congress, also adverted to the question of the army, saying in part:

"Our present national defense law establishes an economical and democratic military policy thoroughly consistent with our national traditions. It provides for a small regular army, to be augmented by great citizen forces in the event of national emergency. This is our traditional military policy. But whereas in the past these larger war forces have been extemporized after the occurrence of an emergency, the new law wisely provides that the framework of their organization shall be established and developed in time of peace, in so far as this is practicable through the voluntary service of our patriotic young men. The army of the United States, as defined in the new law, comprises the regular army, the National Guard and the organized reserves. Every patriotic citizen should encourage the development of these forces, each within its proper sphere."

In the President's statement is described briefly the army policy which has several times been determined to be the right one for this country. It is a policy which has received endorsement in several administrations and popular elections. Congress should adhere to it.

The technical chiefs of the army establishment have insisted that 150,000 men was the minimum required for the proper observance of the policy and instructions laid down in the National Defense Act of 1920. The House bill would cut the army to 115,000 men. The Senate subcommittee on appropriations offers on 10,000 men less than called for in the army general staff plan and urged by General Pershing.

Congress should not decree a greater reduction than suggested by the Senate appropriation committee. The policy written in the National Defense Act of 1920 should be observed until changed world conditions and national relationships, in the opinion of the people, justify modification of that policy.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION.

There is a campaign under way to reduce the number of accidents in the streets and elsewhere in the Eastbay cities. An Eastbay Safety Council has been organized and a program of education and appeal is to be formulated and carried out.

Every citizen and every official and organized private agency should cooperate wholeheartedly in this effort. Accidents in every community are of greater volume than they should be. Organized efforts of prevention will decrease accidents. Society pays a heavy toll in preventable accidents. The more intelligence it displays the smaller this toll will be.

The first essential step in making a safety program successful is to create a popular habit of thinking in terms of individual and collective safety. This calls for recognition on the part of others. It calls for cooperation between pedestrian and motor car driver, between motor car driver and street car driver, cooperation among all those who travel or operate vehicles.

It will help every citizen who desires to cooperate in this safety program to realize that all rules for the regulation of traffic have been devised to serve ideas of safety and equitable distributions of the rights of those that transverse public thoroughfares. These rules are based on cooperation. They are not designed as a punishment, but for the public safety.

If there is added to a willing and intelligent public cooperation in these rules and laws of travel a public habit and an individual habit of taking the certainly safe course in preference to the questionable and risky course, a rapid and wholesome decrease in accidents will be recorded.

Get the safety habit! Show a spirit of appreciative cooperation with the laws and regulations designed for the safety of the public!

DODGING TAXATION.

One of the outstanding features of the New York bond market for the third week in April was the strong demand for tax-exempt securities. The speculative wave that reached its crest early in the month gave way to a spirited seeking for tax-free investments. Over $100,000,000 of such bonds were offered, and though bearing slightly lower rates than usual during the last four years, were absorbed as quickly as they appeared.

The largest single offering was $75,000,000 Federal Land Bank bonds, maturing in twenty years and carrying a 4 1/2 per cent. coupon, which were offered at par. This interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent. compares with the last previous offering of 5 per cent. and a coupon of 5 1/2 per cent. one year ago.

For the first time in the record of federal loan bonds the issue was over-subscribed on the first day of its offering. The applications totaled almost $100,000,000. As a result a syndicate purchased from the Farm Loan Board $42,000,000 additional bonds, which will be used to retire 5 per cent. Federal Land Bank bonds now held by the United States Treasury. These additional bonds, too, have all been sold. In addition, there were four issues of Joint Stock Land Bank bonds during the week, aggregating $9,000,000 for the Banks of Cheyenne, Wyo., Chicago, Ill., the Carolinas and Nebraska.

The total amount of the tax-exempt securities offered was not important. The New York money market could absorb several times the amount in a week. But here is another reminder of the disposition of idle capital to seek investments where it can escape its share of the tax burden. In doing so it neglects the needs of business and industry, which must bid with higher rates of interest. Tax exempt securities of governments which compete with constructive and creative business projects constitute an important problem in this country.

There are poets who have something to say and there are those who say nothing most gracefully. Occasionally one bobs up to find the scheme of rhyme and meter a handicap to straight-for-the-shoulder talk. For instance, there is the gentleman who wrote the following, and a lot more, to the San Diego Union:

"You may have a sister or a mother grand to meet,
Would you be happy if they, too, were insulted on the street?"

Why should some folks seek to rhyme everything they have to say?

It may be said that Mothers' Day, each year, is responsible for the best and the worst poetry ever written. Because they are expressions of genuine emotion they are good.
Stirred with unusual feeling many a man or woman, seems to realize the occasion is too great for prose, too big for ordered expression.
They turn, for the first time in their lives, maybe, to verse and labor over the difficult lines hypo-thetizing themselves into the belief that the thoughts which stormed their souls have been set down for posterity. The pity is the verse to any save him who made it is a pitiable, almost ridiculous thing. It is something, however, to turn to verse—there is no harm in the trying. The thoughts which defied translation, they are worth-while.

our north, has never seen it since the time when Red Indians tor-

Capper's Weekly tells this story and seems to regard it as something new. "Topeka had an extraordinary second-hand store until death removed its proprietor. Two Topeka men once made a bet in regard to it. One bet the other a new hat that he could mention one article that wasn't on sale there. 'I don't know what article you will mention,' said his neighbor, 'but I'll take the bet.' The first man thought a moment and then said:
'A church pulpit.' Both men went to the store. 'Have you a second-hand pulpit for sale?' they asked the proprietor. 'Yes, sir, two of them,' he said. 'Stop right this way, gentlemen, and take your choice.'"

The Salt Lake Tribune discusses ty of Mexico. Dr. Wood recommends that the matter be taken up by the University of Pennsylvania for the reason that the law, engineering and medical departments of that school are most nearly like corresponding departments of the University of Mexico. He believes the exchange professorship would have a beneficial effect in promoting friendship between the two countries."

on the continent, and the Germans have a large measure of reliability about them that travelers like. Ger-

THE FORUM

The Editor of THE TRIBUNE declines responsibility for opinions and statements expressed in this column. Brief contributions on current topics of general interest are welcome. They will not, as a rule, be printed unless accompanied by the name of the writer, which, if desired, will be withheld from publication.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

A news item appeared in the Tribune of May 16th concerning the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session at Hot Springs, Ark. It stated that a special committee had strongly recommended a vigorous extension of home missionary work in the West, and as a reason the report made this statement: "We point to the fact that in the five cities about the San Francisco bay there are 1,250,000 persons, and the entire membership of all Protestant churches in these five cities is only about 14,000."

Where the committee obtained the alleged "fact" is not stated, but common sense ought to have preserved them from such an absurd mistake. So misleading an error calls for correction. The real fact is that the membership of these churches is many times that number. The Methodist churches of these cities alone have a larger membership than this number, and the Presbyterians have nearly as many. Then there are the Baptists, the Congregationalists, the Episcopalians, the Disciples, the Lutherans and the smaller denominations.
The aggregate membership of all these churches cannot fall much below 100,000.

To these should be added the children of these families who are in the Sunday schools, which would double the number. There should be added also the many persons who are or have been members in other places but have not yet transferred their membership.
There are also many adherents who, while not communicant members, believe in and help support these churches. The total would mount up to 200,000 or more.
This estimate does not include the thousands of Christian Scientists, Spiritualists, Unitarians, Universalists and others, who are not recognized by Protestants, but who rate themselves as Christian. While the situation is not all that might be desired by the Protestants, it is still not one that is humiliating or discouraging. Those familiar with the situation know that these cities have hundreds of thousands of church-going and small, which are all pressing their work with multiplied, earnest, aggressive and encouraging activities.

A NARROW STREET

To the Editor of The Tribune:
I have been living in the vicinity of Franklin and Nineteenth streets for almost a year and have often wondered at the indifference of the local authorities to the dangerous traffic congestion on Nineteenth street between Broadway and Webster. Current opinion seems agreed that this neighborhood will soon be an important business district, as local business men have taken out permits to erect three large new buildings in this immediate vicinity. More business will certainly bring more traffic and I cannot understand why Oakland does not look to the future and provide for this additional traffic before these expensive buildings are commenced.
Broadway, Franklin and Webster streets all have car lines and Nineteenth street, the first cross town street north of Fourteenth, is little better than an alley but could be widened at comparatively small expense now. It would cause small loss now either in time or wages for the City Council to halt building operations long enough to determine the feasibility of widening Nineteenth street before these expensive buildings are commenced.

What YOUR HEALTH

What Right Living Means to True Health and Beauty

by ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

During the reign of Charles II.
in 1670, the English Parliament passed this curious act:

"That all women, of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgins, maids or widows, that shall, from after the passing of this act, impose upon and betray into matrimony any of his majesty's male subjects, by scents, paints, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, high-heeled shoes or bolsters in his, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft, sorcery and such like misdemeanors, and that the marriage, upon conviction, shall stand null and void."

When we listen to the railings against the "evil practices" of modern woman, we might suppose that her beauty devices are new.
As a matter of fact, they are almost as old as creation. The desire to appear well seems almost to be instinctive.

Did you ever stop to think why artificial aids to beauty are employed? Glance over King Charles's list. Every single device is intended to hide a defect or to imitate vigorous health.

In and of itself there isn't an article of a procedure mentioned that is detrimental to the physical wellfare of the one using it. It isn't, then, the use of the thing, but the necessity for its use that I would criticize.

Who would paint the lips? If the cheeks were rosy, the lips cherry, and the skin glowing from its perfect circulation, who would be so foolish, as to soil them with pigment?

One would not venture to suggest that the modern woman uses scents to disguise natural odors, but take my word for it, the woman of 1670 needed powerful perfumes. Bathubs and bathing were in their infancy then. We are glad the perfumes of our day are delicate suggestions of sweet flowers and not the odorous miasmas of two centuries ago. We have learned that daily baths, lots of soap, plenty of water inside and out, good digestion and free discharge of the wastes make for sweetness of body.

We have learned the value of dental care. By watching the growing child there are given the mineral salts necessary for the development of good teeth. The toothbrush and the dentist preserve our teeth.

The modern woman cares for her hair and scalp. She is taught how to keep her natural covering, and need not trust to the wig-maker's art to make her beautiful.

Our girls are taught to stand erect, and iron stays are no more needed than the corset. I regret to note the bad posture and shuffling gait of many, but it is inexcusable to be without good figure.

Intelligent physical and breathing exercises will give chest development and fine lines to any woman. Proper diet will keep her
and under-weight may be avoided.
The necessary health devices will not be needed, to hide the one or stimulate the other.

The female of the species is far sweeter and lovelier than the male, but, I beg of you, have real health!
Do not camouflage your face and form, pretending to be what you are not. On the contrary, by right living and proper physical care, have the beauty and grace you properly envy.

BUILDING AND LOAN CHIEFS RALLY HERE

Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda
Are Hosts to 200 Delegates Attending League's Seventeenth Annual Convention

The six Building and Loan Associations of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Alameda are the hosts today to more than 200 delegates attending the seventeenth annual convention of the California Building-Loan League, which commenced its sessions this morning at the Hotel Oakland. The league represents 60 associations, distributed among 34 cities.

Acting under the directions of a general committee, presided over by E. C. Bitterman, eight committees of local building and loan men have made all arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the delegates. The convention will be in session today and tomorrow.

GUESTS OF C. OF C.
At luncheon this noon the delegates were the guests of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and the various civic bodies. At the luncheon R. Holtby Myers, Los Angeles attorney and secretary of the Los Angeles Mutual Building and Loan Association, spoke on "The Housing Situation in regard to industry," and supplied figures showing the importance of the housing situation to the manufacturer, and how manufacturers are anxious to locate their plants in cities that can furnish satisfactory homes for their workers.

Tonight the delegates will attend a banquet at the Hotel Oakland, at which John Collier, sociologist and authority on international economics, will be the chief speaker. Collier has chosen the "Economic Situation at Genoa" as the subject of his address.

SESSION ON BAY TOUR.
Tomorrow afternoon the convention will hold a session on a steamer touring San Francisco bay, thus breaking the monotony of business sessions in a novel manner. During the trip a lecture on the geological history of the bay will be given.

The local associations in charge of the convention are: The California Home Investment Association, Alameda County Loan Association, Alameda County Mutual Building and Loan Association of Oakland, Fidelity Guarantee Building and Loan Association, Berkeley, Alameda, and Alameda.

The delegates were welcomed to Oakland by Mayor John L. Davis. In reply R. Holtby Myers, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Mutual Building and Loan Association, said in part:

"The League of Building-Loan associations is a co-operative money-saving and money-lending institution. The object of these institutions is to inspire and direct our members toward a life of thrift. We are educators, for by our all-inclusive plan of monthly savings payments we point toward a goal which could not, or probably would not, be otherwise realized."

SHORTAGE OF HOUSES.
At the luncheon offered by the Chamber of Commerce and the civic bodies, Myers said:

"On July 15, 1921, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover declared our housing deficiency to be more than one million five hundred thousand dwellings. The tentative census returns show that for every one hundred and twenty-four families, we have only one hundred dwellings."

Speaking of the necessity for providing factory workers with decent dwelling places, Myers said:

"The monotony of factory life kills initiative. Shorter hours and increased wages do not in themselves contribute to the contentment and betterment of the workers. What they need is real homes, amidst pleasant surroundings. Only in a real home, with parents to guide, can the fundamentals of sound economy and social progress be taught."

"If we could build five million houses in the next five years, we would not over-build, nor catch up with the needs of the nation, and it will not take much in money, as we have measured it out for war, to house the people in decent little homes."

The following is the official program for the two days on which the convention will be in session:

9:30 a. m.—Reception of delegates by local reception committee.
10 a. m.—Music by Glee Club of Oakland Technical High School.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST MAN SCORES DIVORCE

Dr. Wilkinson Speaks of Jazz and Flappers as Among Present Vices.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Reports from various foreign fields occupied the major portion of the sessions of the Seventh Day Adventist church, which is meeting at the Civic Auditorium in its world convention.

Leading among the reports and talks of the day was that of Dr. B. G. Wilkinson of Topeka, Kan., formerly a worker of the church in its African field. Dr. Wilkinson spoke on the vices of the present day, in which he included jazz, the flapper and divorce, which he characterized as the "ulcer that is gnawing at the vitals of the nation." He stated that the cry "back to the farm" would have to be heeded by the nation or that in time it would find itself in the same position as did the ancient republic of Rome.

Other reports made during the day included those of W. H. Branson of Cape Town, South Africa; G. W. Schubert and J. P. Schubert of Europe; P. E. Broderick, head of the bureau of home missions; J. C. Ratt of Christchurch, Norway, president of the Scandinavian Union; B. P. Hoffman of the miscellaneous language department; T. J. Boettcher of the German home missionary department; N. P. Nielson of the Danish-Norwegian department and August Anderson of the Swedish department.

YOUR KIDNEYS

Your Good Health and Long Life Depend on Your Kidneys. That's Why Insurance Companies Always Insist on Urinalysis.

Beaverton, Oregon.—"I take great pleasure in stating what Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets have done for me in a very severe case of bladder and kidney trouble. For ten years I was distressed about every thirty minutes. I doctored and doctored but no relief. My last doctor bill was $175.00, and I was no better. I went back to my old home and my folks wanted me to give Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets a trial, so I did, and I also took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with them to work on my liver. I can walk, ride, go to town and go for five or six hours without being distressed. I can not praise the Anuric Tablets too much, for they are wonderful for the kidneys." City to Salvage Lumber Held in Sunken Barge

A rescue expedition started along the western waterfront today to haul out of the water a rented barge full of lumber which was swamped some time ago. The barge is rented by the city. The lumber is wanted for harbor improvements.

The barge was the scene of heroic work by a watchman on the night of the recent storm. It sprang a leak. The watchman climbed aboard and started to pump her out. He pumped and pumped and pumped. The barge leaked and leaked and leaked. At 5 a. m. the barge gained 2 inches and by 6 it discouraged the watchman completely.

The latter then telephoned for help, but when help arrived the barge had foundered. The lumber, however, held her from going to the bottom.

"We want the lumber and the watchman," says Harbor Engineer Ralph Beebe. "As for the barge, we are not so enthusiastic."

made following an appeal by E. G. Talbot of the Near East relief, who made an appeal for the starving children in Palestine.

Dr. L. A. Hansen of Washington, D. C., secretary of the medical department, gave a survey of the medical and hospital work of the church.

Auto Tax to Keep Up Roads Advocated

"Taxes and license fees upon commercial auto buses and truck lines should not be based upon their comparatively negligible investment, but upon the amount of business conducted, which would be in direct proportion to the extent to which the highways are used. The tax should be sufficient to cover a just proportion of highway maintenance expense. They should also pay a percentage of their gross receipts equivalent to that paid by the rail carriers." This is a statement by W. V. Hill, manager, California Electric Railway Association, speaking before the Pacific Railway Club at a meeting held in the Hotel Oakland last night.

County Balance in Banks Shows Gain

Alameda county has $1,234,759 more in the bank today than it had a year ago, according to E. W. Foss, county treasurer. Foss figures compiled from his monthly report, show the county balance on hand May 1, 1922, was $3,997,446.50 as compared to $2,742,687.28 on May 1, 1921. Disbursements during April were more than $100,000 higher than during April, 1921, and receipts were more than $80,000 less in April this year than in April, 1921.

According to Foss' report receipts during April, 1922, were $905,249.76 and disbursements were $953,729.14 while in April, 1921, receipts were $900,412.35 and disbursements were $853,459.70.

CHINESE GIRL OF 8 MISSING, WAR OF TONGS IS FEARED

Mother Is Alleged to Have Taken Child From Custody of Father.

Beneath an outward appearance of peacefulness, Chinatown is seething today over the mysterious disappearance of Ruth Hall, 8-year-old Chinese school girl and the best liked child in the Oriental quarter, who, it is believed, has been stolen to slavery.

Possibility that a long war will result unless the child, who has been missing since yesterday noon, is returned unharmed to her home, 255 Fifth street, was expressed by tong chiefs, whose agents are working independently by the police, in an effort to locate the girl.

After an all-night search, during which tongmen in sympathy with the girl's father, scoured the underground channels of Oakland's and San Francisco's Chinatowns, Ruth's disappearance was reported to the police today.

The girl's grandmother and father, with whom she lived, are wealthy and prominent Chinese.

The report of the disappearance of Ruth, whose Chinese name is Tow Hool, was made to the police by Ah Fong, 339 Eighth street, a close friend of the family, and Police Inspector Bodie Wallman was detailed by the Harrison school, where she is a pupil. There she told her teachers that she was going to San Francisco with her mother, Mrs. Gum Zay, and was expected at 11 a. m. Neither the child nor her mother, who lives at 268 Fifth street, returned to their homes last night.

The girl's grandmother had

SHERIFF CAN GIVE POINTERS TO HOUSEWIVES

Alameda county housewives who are fighting old H. C. L. ought to ask Sheriff Frank Barnett how he does it. On his allowance for boarding the prisoners at the county jail, Barnett has managed to save $738.50 in the last three months, which he returned to County Treasurer F. W. Foss today.

Barnett is allowed 40 cents a day on which to feed each prisoner. He feeds them so well that recently a Federal district attorney asked an investigation of the Alameda county jail because prisoners are so anxious to serve their time on this side of the bay. Meat every day, steaks or chops, fresh vegetables in season and pie on Sunday are some of the reasons, the prisoners declare.

Barnett says he is willing to tell all he knows to any inquiring housewife who aspires to feed her prisoners 40c a day.

Fight Reopened on Alien Land Tenure

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Attorney General U. S. Webb of California today moved to reopen the fight against Japanese owning California land through guardianship. He filed in the state supreme court an application for a rehearing on the recent ruling of the court which held that the provision of the anti-alien land law aimed against such practices, was unconstitutional.

The supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the remainder of the anti-alien land law.

'WET' DEMANDS CAMOUFLAGED, SAYS VOLSTEAD

Author of Prohibition Act Challenges Liberals to Do Their Worst.

By JAMES T. KOBERT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Any attempt in Congress to weaken the Volstead act to permit manufacture of beer and wine "will be battered down and beaten," Representative Andrew Volstead of Minnesota, author of prohibition, declared to the United Press today.

Volstead challenged liberals in the house "to do their worst" in their campaign to give local option on the wet-dry issue to the different congressional districts. He regards their attempt, it was made known, as being "knowingly futile."

Views of Volstead.
Discussing what he termed the "utter futility of the liberalization movement," Volstead said, in quoting part of a campaign pamphlet just issued:

"The time is here when every man and woman who love their country should support its constitution and obey the laws enacted to enforce it. Liberty and security rest on law. License to sell beer and wine contained in a prohibition law makes it impossible to enforce. It is as indefensible a law as it is to vote directly to violate the constitution."

"The only defensible position for a member of Congress to take is to sustain the law in enforceable form. There is only one defensible position for the judicial officer and that is to construe the law so as to carry out its manifest purpose. There is only one defensible position for the law-abiding citizen and that is to obey the law and support those in public office who are honestly endeavoring to support it. More than two dozen wet organizations are making the nomination of candidates pledged to support a beer and wine amendment to the national prohibition act an issue in the primaries."

"Those who seek to destroy prohibition recognize that the public cannot be persuaded, knowingly, to restore the saloon or the sale of whiskey. They are camouflaging their demands by asking for what they call light wine and beer."

SCOTTS BAR, ONE TOWN THAT DOES NOT BOAST STORE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The only town in California without stores of shopping facilities of any kind is Scotts Bar, Shasta county, according to an application on file today with the State Railroad Commission. This fact is used by Millard O. Payne to support an application for authority to operate a passenger and freight auto stage between that community and Fort Jones. Fort Jones is the trading center of the district.

Shrewd property owners

Save the surface and you save all!

IT'S A WELL KNOWN FACT that well-painted dwellings, automobiles, etc., sell more readily—and for a much higher price—than the shoddy-looking, unpainted ones.

If you want to dispose of your property, a coat of paint will be the most lucrative investment you can make.

Whether you have intentions of selling or not, you cannot afford to allow decay and erosion, weather and wear to rob you of your investment.

Remember: You are the big loser when you neglect to protect your property from the elements!

Examine your Dwelling Now—Get Estimates on your Work

EXAMINE your leaders and cornices. Look at your porch columns and the clapboards. Inspect the floors.

If the sills and woodwork show finger marks that won't come off easily, it's a sign they need paint.

It's better to paint now than to be compelled to put on a new roof later.

Examine your buildings—better yet, call your painter, let him tell you what is needed and what it will cost.

EDISON PLEADS FEDERAL SYSTEM OF WAREHOUSES

Storage Credit Plan and Cash Relief Advocated for U. S. Farmers.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Acceptance by the government of Henry Ford's offer for development of the Muscle Shoals projects was recommended to members of the Senate agriculture committee in conference last night by Thomas A. Edison, who recently arrived in the Alabama properties in company with the Detroit manufacturer.

By WEBSTER K. NOLAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Thomas A. Edison, the world electrical genius, appeared before a secret night session of the Senate agriculture committee and recommended establishment by Congress of a titanic government warehouse system for solving the nationwide agricultural depression. It was learned by International News Service today.

The plan Edison urged Congress to adopt would give American farmers almost a monopolistic control over the price of their products, through operation of a "full year" storage provision. Edison urged passage of the proposed legislation "as soon as possible" in order to give the farmers relief before the next crop is reaped.

SENATORS APPROVE.
The warehouse system Edison recommended appealed tremendously to the senators. He was frequently interrupted during the session by his deeply interested auditors for additional details. Edison proposed that the warehouses would be used as the basis for farm credits under which farmers "could get a fair return on their products." He specifically urged that the farmers be given permission by the government to store their products for a full year "if necessary" in order to insure the fair return.

PRICE FIXING POWER.
This suggestion, senators believed, would give the farmers "practical price-fixing power" over their own products, inasmuch as they could wait for a favorable market in which to sell. Edison discussed at great length potential legislation to put his plan into effect.

Although stressing the warehouse credit system as the most advantageous, Edison approved direct financial aid by the government to the farmers and also suggested the establishment of livestock credits through Federal Reserve banks.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT.
Under the warehouse plan, Edison explained, the farmer would be offered government storage for his cotton and grain crops. The government would then sell the crops stored in its warehouses. Armed with these certificates, the farmers' financial difficulties would be solved through their ability to borrow at any national bank.

Provision of twelve great warehouses immediately was advocated by the great scientist.

Ground Broken for University High School Building; Leading Educators of Bay Region Join in Ceremony

Ground was broken yesterday afternoon for the new University High School at Grove and Fifty-ninth streets in the presence of hundreds of pupils, parents, teachers and educators. BARROWS of the University of California; (right) LEONARD KEELER, president of the high school's student body, turning the first spadeful of earth.

First Step Taken Toward Construction of $541,716 Structure; Work Will Be Rushed Forward.

Ground for the new University High school at Fifty-ninth and Grove streets was broken yesterday afternoon at a ceremony in which prominent educators from the bay cities participated. The exercises consumed the entire afternoon. The entire student bodies and faculties of the North Oakland high schools attended. Among the speakers were President David P. Barrows of the University of California; Professor C. E. Rugh of the university; President Harry J. Boyle of the Oakland Board of Education; Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter; and Principal F. H. Boren of University High school.

The new high structure will be of the Spanish colonial type and will cost $541,716 for the general construction. It will accommodate 1200 pupils, as against 843 students of the present high school. University High school is one of Oakland's special schools and is allied to the University of California. The school is strictly academic, and has no shops, but excellent provision has been made for music, home economics and commercial instruction. The auditorium is almost a concert hall. Architect C. W. Dickey has provided for a specially big library and reading room, flanked by two outdoor reading rooms of the patio style. It is planned that this will be the most attractive school library in the west.

Now that the ground is broken, the building will be rushed to completion.

Man Wins Out in Insurance Fight
SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—On November 27, 1920, A. C. Bass, merchant of Calexico, was working late on his books and accounts. He was sleepy. He closed his desk, leaving the books there and intended to finish on the morrow. In the early hours of November 28 fire broke out two doors away and his place was destroyed. The Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance company refused to pay his $15,000 insurance because his books were not in the safe and preserved. It was claimed that he had not complied with an iron safe clause in his policy.

It developed at the trial that the clause in question had been attached after the original policies were written. Therefore, the superior court held that the company must pay. Today the district court of appeal here affirmed the decision.

CHILDREN HEALTH FARM TO OPEN IN FEW MONTHS

Purchase of Site in Livermore Hills Completed; Plans Are Told.

An all-year open air institution for children will be opened late this summer by the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association in the Livermore hills, according to the announcement made this morning by Miss Annie Florence Brown, president.

The 1921 Christmas Seal sale provided the funds for the purchase of 45 acres of land which will be used for this purpose. The sale was completed yesterday, when the Simpson ranch, within a few miles of Arroyo Sanitarium, came into the possession of the Tuberculosis Association. The purchase price was $12,300.

Permanent equipment will be installed and the institution, which will become known as the Del Valley Children's Farm, will be opened within a few weeks. A Sunshine school is included in the general plans which have been adopted. The institution will be conducted on a scientific basis with a staff of experts directing its service. Children whose health is dependent upon open air living under ideal conditions will be boarded for $1 a day.

SUNSHINE SCHOOL.
Juveniles suffering from tuberculosis will not be admitted, but will be sent to the children's department of Arroyo Sanitarium. "Arrested" cases from the county hospital needing continued care, as, however, be received for a few weeks after discharge. That children may not be deprived of educational advantages the "Sunshine" school will be operated for two or three hours daily.

The medical work will be under the direction of Dr. Chesley Bush, director at Arroyo Sanitarium. The project fits into the county wide scheme for public health.

A campaign for funds to install open air sleeping dormitories, screened kitchen and dining halls, sanitary equipment and open air swimming pool will be inaugurated immediately by the association.

NEED DEMONSTRATED.
"Summer camps have been maintained for five years by the county association and their need demonstrated," Miss Brown said today. "We believe the all-year permanent camp will be of the greatest value to the children of the community."

The Del Valley Children's Farm and Sunshine school is located one hour and a half by motor from Oakland and is abundantly supplied with water. It is orchard land. We want the people of Alameda county to know it was their response to the 1921 Christmas Seal sale that made its purchase possible.

Associated with Miss Brown on the committee which is directing its establishment and program are: Roscoe D. Jones, chairman; Dr. Chesley Bush, director, Arroyo Sanitarium; Dr. Alvin Powell, director, Alameda County Public Health Center; Mrs. W. M. Briggs, Pleasanton, executive committee, County Tuberculosis Association; Frederick Kahn, treasurer, A. C. T. A.; Joseph

Uncle Wiggly

(By Howard R. Garis)

He landed beside the rabbit
UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE BIRD WITH HORNS.

"What shall I do with those I have left over, Nurse Jane?" called Uncle Wiggly one morning from the garden near his hollow stump bungalow.

"What have you left over," asked the mask-like housekeeper, who was just finishing the washing of the breakfast dishes.

"A lot of seeds," answered the rabbit gentleman. "You gave me some seeds to plant in the garden, Nurse Jane, but I have many left over. What shall I do with them?" "Save them until next year," answered Nurse Jane. "You will want to make another garden then?" "By next year is so far away," Uncle Wiggly answered. "I know what I shall do with the left-over seeds," he exclaimed, with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "I'll feed them to the birds! It is so early that there are as yet no seeds on the weeds, and most birds eat seeds. So instead of saving these garden seeds, which I may never need, I will take them to the woods with me and scatter them for the hungry birds."

"That's a good and kind idea," exclaimed Nurse Jane. "I hope the birds have a nice little picnic on the seeds."

So, having finished his garden, for the time being, Uncle Wiggly put on his tail pinching nose—oh, please excuse me, did he need to put his nose on, did he? He always had that. What I meant was that the bunny put on his cap and then, holding the seeds in his paws, away he hopped to the woods.

"Come, birds and birds," called the bunny gentleman, as he hopped under the trees. "Come and get the seeds I have brought for you!" For a little while there was no answer and then, suddenly, high in the air, Uncle Wiggly heard a most beautiful song. It grew more and more faint, like a far-off wireless telegraph, as the bird, suddenly, flew higher. Then as the bunny gentleman looked up, he saw a tiny speck in the sky.

"That must be the bird I heard singing," he said to himself. "I wonder what kind it is!"

The speck grew larger and larger and then the bunny began to feel frightened for the bird. "He is falling!" he cried, and wings, said the bunny gentleman to himself. "Perhaps his wings are broken, and he cannot flutter them to bring himself down easily, like an aeroplane. If his wings are broken and he strikes the earth hard he will be killed!"

But Uncle Wiggly need not have been afraid, for as the bird, still singing, neared the earth, suddenly he spread out his wings and landed, as lightly as a feather, on a bush in the cloud.

"Dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, as he looked at the bird, which was covered with light brown feathers on his back, a dark streak under his throat and with yellow patches around his beak. "Dear me! I was afraid you would be hurt. I thought your wings were broken."

"Oh, no, I'm glad nothing like that happened," said the bird, with a toss of his head, and then the bunny noticed that growing on the bird's back were two tufts of sharp feathers.

"Why, you have horns!" exclaimed the bunny. "I never knew a bird had horns!"

"They aren't exactly horns," laughed the bird, "as they are only tufts of feathers, like those the horned owl wears."

"But you aren't an owl," said the bunny.

"I am called the horned lark," was the answer, "and I am the only bird of my kind. Did you hear me sing as I flew high?"

"Yes," answered the bunny gentleman. "I did, and I saw you fall from the cloud."

"We horned larks always 'do that,' said the bird. Uncle Wiggly, "it is something cannot do. But you must be hungry, after your long flight and the delightful conversation you gave me, here are some left-over garden seeds I brought with me. Perhaps you'd like a few."

"How kind you are!" said the horned lark. "I was just wishing for some seeds. Thank you!"

The lark ate the seeds the bunny had brought, and the bird was just going to sing again when, all of a sudden, there was a noise in the bushes and out popped the Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah, now for some car nibbling," barked the Fox.

"Not today," sang the lark. "If you try to nibble Uncle Wiggly's ears I'll tickle you with my horns," and the lark shook his horned head at the bad Fox.

"Oh, excuse me!" quickly barked the sly creature. "I didn't know you were here. I don't want to be horned!" and away ran the Fox.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the lark. "If he only knew it, my horns of feathers are very soft, though they look hard and sharp."

"Well, I'm glad you fooled the Fox, anyhow. Thank the bunny. I don't like my ears nibbled!" Then he thanked the lark, which ate some more seeds, and so everything came out all right.

Runs to my side—
And awaits his reward.
A pat on the head—
While the new bully—
In the neighborhood—
Slinks sullenly away.
I look down into his opal eyes—
And wish I had his lion heart.
Composed and satisfied—
He drops at my side—
This faithful thing—
Without a soul.
For I—his master—
Am without fault—
He knows not that some petty scheme—
May be withering my mind—
He senses not the selfish ends—
By which I strive to gain the goal—
Of mankind ambition—
He knows not—
And he cares not—
For I am his master—
If danger threatens me—
With unleashed fury—
He will die for me—
And yet he runs—
At a stick in a baby's hand.
He has no soul—
The wise men tell me—
Yet how do they know—
No one has peeped beyond the veil—
To see and know—
But this I say—
That many there are—
Who hope for heaven—
That cannot boast of virtue—
Such as yours.
And if it be—
You have no soul—
Then what is that—Shining from your eyes?
And if it be—
That when you die—
You're dead and gone—
I know this much—
That you so lived—
That you deserve to wear a crown.
And if you—and such as you—
Ever reach that shining shore—
My heart tells me—
'Twill be a happier place—
Because of you.

Should a Woman TELL?

Hawthorne Emery decides to marry Dane Merrill without telling him that she has once been in love with another man. She discovers that Dane is very narrow in his ideas about women, and that he is looking to her to exert an influence over his little butterfly sister, Julie. Julie has fallen in love with a man much older than herself, and driven into a corner, she tells her mother that she has met this man through Hawthorne. Shortly after this, Hawthorne sees Cranford Blake, the man from the past, at a hotel, and the next morning he calls her up on the telephone and demands to see her. She hangs up the receiver while he is speaking. Realizing afterward that this has only postponed the issue, she resolves to see him. She waits for his call the next morning, and Julie calls up and asks her out to lunch.

CHAPTER XXIII.

A TERRIBLE SNOOK.

The lobby of the restaurant was filled with fashionably dressed women. There was a hum of people's voices raised above the sound of the orchestra that came from the dining room beyond. The smell of rich food, combined with expensive perfume, was everywhere. That small hall always seemed to me typical of New York, and I have always loved it. Dane and I have always called it "but-ter-snipe," and I guess it is true, for the city has always had a strange fascination for me. I stood alone among the crowds for a moment and then Julie's voice hailed me from behind. I whirled about, felt for a moment the pressure of her warm little hand on my arm, and then looked up and straight into the eyes of Cranford Blake!

The walls of the lobby seemed to waver as though they were about to close in on me. The chatter of the people increased to a deafening roar in my ears, I felt a moment of extreme nausea as though I were about to faint, but I fought the sensation with all of my strength.

What was that that Julie was saying? "Hawthorne, this is Mr. Carroll Blackton. Isn't he a splendid surprise?"

After that one moment of horrified surprise I had wrenched my gaze from his face and had turned to Julie.

She was radiant. Her eyes were like stars, her soft cheeks were flushed. She was incapable of hiding what she felt and it was written on her face for all the world to see.

I had a passionate impulse to protect her, to hide that look of awakened girlhood, from the curious and prying eyes of the world. I was trying to gather my wits together, to play the game, to crush down the panic that threatened to overwhelm me if I gave in to it. I had no time to think. I had to act.

From my first quick, horrified glance into Cranford's face I had seen that he was smiling, that faint, ironic smile of his. He had planned to meet little Julie and I had innocently walked into it. Of course, it amused him; he had no heart. Why, if it happened to be necessary to his own interests, he would crush the woman who had never meant anything to him. He would stamp out that smile of happiness on her face and ride over her roughshod.

I suppose it was her habit of a novel, a brave, courageous type of woman, I should have denounced Cranford then and there. But women don't do those things in real life; they suffer in silence, they pretend things they don't feel, they are cautious at facing issues of any kind.

I knew, of course, from Julie's manner that she knew nothing, and I also knew that Cranford had discovered all about me through her. She had probably chattered to him gaily in her artless manner, and he had listened, discovered what he needed to know, and then planned his manner of dealing with me.

All these thoughts went rushing through my mind as Julie, her hand thrust through my arm, pulled me toward the door of the dining room. I was conscious that I must have managed some kind of a greeting for Julie in her happy absorption and not noticed anything wrong, but to keep up a semblance of camaraderie during lunch, to force myself to talk and laugh, seemed ghastly to me.

How could I look at Cranford, how could I seem friendly toward him just as though I had never known him before? And yet this was no time to tell what I knew, to make a scene of any kind, must wait and have it out with him when we were alone.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

by ANDRE TRIDON

WHEN A FEMALE ARTIST MARRIES

A MALE artist, as I said in a previous article, may find happiness for a time at least in the company of an indulgent, and assuming woman who admires him and accepts the facts that artists are that way. The world has taught women that they must forgive many things. Men, on the other hand, have been trained to resent everything which in the slightest way casts a shadow on the glory of being a male.

The business man or professional man who marries a well-known artist finds himself in a similar position. He is not Mr. Stoney more. He is Madame Stoney and Mrs. Stoney. The women of the Lucy Stone League retain their maiden name after marriage but they leave their husband his, own name.

The female artist keeps her name and robs her husband of his personality. The female artist is granted (All Rights Reserved. Reproduction Prohibited).

by the world an unusual amount of freedom in her movements and her frequentations. She is thrown into contact with numerous men, some of whom may fancy her greatly and show it in their behavior. And while the existence of an artist has to be, it is to be said to be, well regulated as that of the most settled middle-class person, appearances may at times be deceiving. Jealousy rages badly in the husband of a female artist as in the husbands of little suburban wives. It rages even worse in them, as it has more opportunities to become aroused.

The most galling experience, however, for Madame's husband is the feeling which is forced upon him more and more strongly every day of his life, that he is and will always remain an outsider.

He may acquire the jargon of her art, but he will never be able to free himself from the artist's free masonry. A word of praise from some fellow artists—perhaps of the third rank, will weigh more in his mind than the most intelligent appraisal of his performance. She may love him dearly, but what does the poor dear know about her art?

In those three ways his marriage line is got into, is wounded and in the conflict of ego and love, love is always the loser.

Flints of the Late Stone Age

WE have thus far traveled through vast ages in the history of mankind. Beginning with man as a naked savage, shivering at the approach of wild beasts, we have traced his climb to a point where he has learned to make bows and arrows, to paint pictures, and to shape and harden pottery.

much time has passed in our story? The exact number of years is of course unknown, but it is regarded as certain that the Stone Age lasted for a long time, and until man had been on earth thousands of thousands of years.

Only ten or fifteen thousand years ago, as we have seen, we are told, but these years are packed full of wonderful things.

By the time pottery was first made, Europe was first made. Europe was first made. Europe was first made.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

INTOLERANCE has become the style again. No longer do we "live and let live" with cheerful generosity. No, indeed; you're supposed to rise in "sturdy protest" and call the other fellow a fool and a liar with utmost enthusiasm. If he doesn't happen to believe exactly as you do. But you mustn't argue with him or allow him to argue with you. That would be a confession of weakness. You are right. Life is wrong. That's all there is to it. Thereupon you pass laws, restraining his personal habits and restricting his output. If possible, you take his office.

New this is natural. Intolerance is one of the things which a war period always lets loose on a world, just as it lets loose hunger, pestilence and poverty. It spreads to every branch of the national life—the politics, labor, law, the home and the school. Everywhere free thought and free action is tabooed, and the people are to be kept in line. I suppose you must expect it. But sometimes I wonder if we'd have as many intolerant people if they knew the true nature of intolerance instead of thinking it a sign of strength and sanity.

Andre Tridon in his "Psycho-analysis and Behavior" (a great big book, and easy to read) discusses intolerance. It does not sit in judgment upon either the intolerant or the tolerant. He simply shows the psychological and physical sources of such attitudes.

There are two types of human beings: the Positive and the Negative. The Positive constructs, reaches up. The Negative destroys, pulls down. The

Dear Geraldine: "HAVE A HEART AND BE KIND THAT IS TACT."

"Reading a very fine article under the above title brought to mind recent discussion on rearing children—undoubtedly a tremendous undertaking, considering that the youngsters of today are the grown-ups of tomorrow. No life profession requires more tact than that of parenthood, when 'having a heart and being kind' pays a very important part."

"No matter how young the child and unconcerned to surroundings, quite frequently unassuming and very timid, often we fail to notice that the child is really a comparison and criticism of his lesser talents alongside other small members of the family."

"I cite an incident in my own household. When my child had played such a serious part in the life of a misunderstood child and may influence her whole outlook toward life in general in future years. Our child, who is naturally talented at the age of six, and a half, could speak almost perfectly for a child. On hearing me mentioning and reciting in school, I was told several times, went to dad and recited, with expressive gestures, the four verses."

"When four years old he would 'pick' companions on the piano, right and left hand, for songs. He being our first child, to his things were most natural. I thought at children were this talented. Next came a little daughter—like the average child, but inclined to timidity, sensitive."

"Doing nothing unusual, she was overheard as complimentary remarks. When she was four, she gathered up all the children in the neighborhood of little brother's snuggles. All the time no one realized how the child was being crushed—losing confidence in herself and everyone else, for young as she was, she was being impressed with an idea that no one loved her, since she was not as good as her brother. I ignored her feelings and persistently forbidden her of her minor talent by comparison. It is terrible to think of her mental suffering."

"I have seen a child's face trying to change her view. Every beautiful thought in prose or poetry that I come across, I collect to read to her, with great emphasis, particularly when they are constructive, encouraging, uplifting, tending to develop broadness of heart, and soul—in a word, true character. She is gradually improving and my small child is now with her in to impress on her mind that she must avoid doing to others what she herself suffers because of POOR TACT. She has every reason for being so, and she and he kind towards her fellow beings, since she so fully realizes how it hurts. No denying that 'character develops in the stream of life.'"

"Looking back, it seems to me, all the griefs which had to be left me, when the pain was over, Richer than I'd been before. And by every hurt and blow I suffered in the long ago, I can face the world today in a bigger, kinder way."

"E. GUEST"

"Parents, friends, do be tactful when exalting one child before the other, for you may never know the harm done to the neglected child. Express your affection and be quick to perceive. In this instance we were wrong, I'm impressed, for in truth, her mind was quite receptive and more so, than that of the apparently brighter child at times."

"Because of this experience, I can scarcely contain myself from intruding when hearing a child made so much over, as in the presence of another child. Having made a study of it, I have very often seen the look of humiliation, the hurt, pointed on the other child's face. When these occasions present themselves without being rude and as possible, I shift conversation towards other channels. This happens more often with sensitive, timid children. Have heart, be kind. It is tact, and be tactful when dealing with little ones." Encourage your child, but not by comparison as by so doing you are impressing on him his inferior intelligence and inferiority. Encourage him to believe in himself, that you truly believe him as capable as the next one and coax

"I am sure the boys felt no resentment, because they always came to me to be loved and comforted, and I always explained in language they could understand, that I had much more to love them than they had to love me. Obedience at such times it was the only way I could do anything with them. I admit the grown-ups got a piece of my mind when I found out the trouble."

"I am sure the boys felt no resentment, because they always came to me to be loved and comforted, and I always explained in language they could understand, that I had much more to love them than they had to love me. Obedience at such times it was the only way I could do anything with them. I admit the grown-ups got a piece of my mind when I found out the trouble."

"And as I say, when we were alone I never had to resort to punishment of any kind to get them to comply with any request I might make, and today they are almost grown, but they respect my judgment and fairness. I wish for anything they can supply; they are instantly ready to grant it."

"In our mature years we see many ways of solving our problems; we do not see when we are in our formative years; we are all learners in the school of life."

"I HAVE NEVER SEEN A CHILD UNPUNISHED BUT I BELIEVE IT SHOULD BE ADMINISTERED TO THE ONE WHO GAVE IT."

"In the words of Jean Val Jean: 'No bad men, no bad herbs, only bad cultivators.'"

FINAL REHEARSAL FOR AD. MASQUE BLAZE OF COLOR

Tomorrow Night Will Be Ad-Rabian Night; When
"Aladdin" Appears.

Final dress rehearsal for Oak-land's Ad Masque was held last night in the Municipal Auditorium, where the event will be presented tomorrow night.
More pretty girls, more dancing numbers, more effective stage settings, more gorgeousness, better lighting effects, a more finished product—that is the 1922 Ad Masque feature, "Aladdin."
The Ad-Rabian Night is the phrase coined to fit the occasion tomorrow night.
This incorporates the two big features of the Ad Masque—the Parade of Ads and the production of the drama-spectacle "Aladdin."
The advance sale of tickets has been tremendous and is continuing heavy.

POLICE AID.
Manager Charles Chance has arranged with the police officials to properly handle the crowds and attend to the parking. Chief of Police James Drew, Captain Frank Lynch and Sergeant Charles Hemp-hill, the latter in charge of the traffic squad, have consented to take complete charge of the crowds on foot and in automobiles.

Thirty ad club members will act as ushers, assisted by thirty Boy Scouts in uniform.
A distinctive feature of the Parade of Ads will be the appearance of the Piedmont Merchants' Association. In the line of march will be the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, the grocer, the garage man, the electrician, the music dealer, the notion store proprietor, in fact, every business man and woman along Piedmont avenue who is a member of the association.

TELEPHONE EXHIBIT.
Then there is the animated telephone book, which will be the outstanding feature of the stunt to be presented by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Two pretty telephone operators will turn the leaves of the giant book while little Miss Truth will sit at the switch board.

A grand ball brings the Ad Masque to a close. Dancing will begin promptly at 10 o'clock.
Special light car service has been arranged by the traction company. Following is the schedule: Leaving the front of the Auditorium at 1:10 a. m. for the following points: Lakeshore district, Piedmont, San Pablo avenue as far as West Berkeley or University avenue, West Twelfth street to Sixteenth street depot, Grove street to Berkeley station, College avenue to Berkeley station, Telegraph avenue to Berkeley station, Thirty-eighth avenue to Alameda, Park Boulevard and East Fourteenth street to Elmhurst.

They Will Dance to Please "Aladdin"

Meet Called to Plan Utilities District

The mayors, city commissioners and other officials of the Eastbay cities will meet late this afternoon in Mayor Davis' office to discuss their next moves toward the formation of a public utilities district for all the cities from Richmond to San Leandro.

The proposition of the cities has already been laid before the board of supervisors, who seek further information. Some will be present. "The utilities district," says Mayor Davis, "should be formed first without dragging in the fight about whether we should have Hetch-Hetchy, the Bel river, or other supplies. We are all unanimous about forming the district. That will be our first work."

Mob's Raid on Jail For Prisoner Fails

OMAHA, May 19.—A committee representing twenty-five automobile loads of armed men who drove into Dute, Neb., early today from the direction of Spencer, Neb., failed in an effort to get possession of Walter Simons, suspect held in connection with the death of Frank Paul, Spencer garage man, whose body was found in a gulch near Bristow, Neb., last Monday night, says a special dispatch received here.

After a careful search of the jail, to which they were readily admitted, the committee left. Sheriff Frank Heenan, who received advance information that the mob was forming, removed the prisoner to a place of safety in the country nearby.

This Goat May Be Camel's Cousin

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., May 19.—And now comes the "harmless" billy goat displaying some of his unique qualifications.

When a carload of lime was loaded at Cape Girardeau Mr. Goat, unnoticed, made his way into the car and was locked therein. Eight days after, when the seals of the car were broken at the destination, Doniphan, Mo., and when the door was opened out jumped Mr. Goat, spry, but apparently thirsty.

He was quickly treated to a drink of "mountain dew" which bubbled from a spring near Doniphan and was happy. He seemed none the worse for his "Volsteadian feat."

CHING KOW COWED.
LONDON.—Ching Kow, a Chinese sailor, resisted arrest when caught selling cocaine, but collapsed in terror when sentenced to imprisonment and deportation. He said he would be killed in China.

BURGULAR'S BREAKFAST.
NEW YORK.—Burglars who robbed an apartment in the Bronx cooked a breakfast of ham and eggs, washed it down with private stock whiskey and then departed with $1100 which they took from a small safe.

They say "good things come in small packages," but this is not the case when you buy a homestead in Montclair. See for yourself Sunday or call up Lakeside 1800, the Realty Syndicate's representative will be pleased to take you out and show you. You are under no obligation in doing so. This Aluminum Individual Camping Outfit Is Just What You Need

You can have one without paying a cent through the special offer being made by The Oakland TRIBUNE for a limited time only. For full particulars use the coupon below.

Aluminum Individual Camping Outfit

FOR compactness, lightness and convenience in carrying, no outfit surpasses the Aluminum Individual Camping Outfit. It has been designed for sportsmen, autoists, campers and Boy Scouts, and is especially convenient on long trips.

The outfit is made of aluminum throughout, except the spoon, fork and handles of the fry pan and bucket, which are of heavy tinned steel.

The outfit consists of a pudding pan or plate, bucket with cover, cup, tinned steel spoon and fork, and fry pan with folding handle. There is an opening in either end of the fry pan handle into which a stick may be inserted, making it convenient for frying over a log fire. When outfit is nested, the handle folds over bottom of pudding pan, engaging notch and forming locking device.

A khaki bag with adjustable shoulder strap facilitates the carrying of the outfit. The bag has two pockets in the lining, in which are carried the spoon and fork.

Your camping equipment is not complete without an Aluminum Individual Camping Outfit.

ACT NOW! Get one of these Camping Outfits through the special offer of The TRIBUNE.

PERALTA SCHOOL TO OPEN TONIGHT

Peralta school, newest item of the educational department's city-wide plant, will be dedicated this evening by educators and residents of the community.

The school, on North street and Alcatraz avenue, is a building with seven classrooms and a convertible auditorium formed by combining two of the classrooms. The building is of the Spanish colonial type and will accommodate 400 pupils instead of the 170 of the old Peralta school.

The old school will be sold and the proceeds diverted to student and community activities in the new school next year. It will contain all the grades from kindergarten through high sixth.

The dedication program follows: America's creed and the salute to the flag. Entertain school. What Peralta School Means to Its Pupils. Wellia Gorman For Peralta, a song. School Choral The General School Building Program in Oakland. Harry L. Boyd, President Board of Education. Peralta School, How It Is Built. C. W. Dickey, Architect Aims of the Oakland Schools. Fred M. Hunter, Supt. of Schools "Thank You" from the children of Peralta to the Board of Education. Janet Coler Musical numbers: Combined hands of Claremont and Washington schools—(a) Lucia Selections; (b) Echoes from Naples; (c) American Overture; (d) Success March.

Spring Dance. Florrie Tyrell With children attendants, and Dorothy Abernethy.

Vocal solo. Mrs. J. H. Christie Address. Mrs. R. G. Goehbens President Peralta Mothers' Club.

GALLOWAY NOT TO CHARGE GIRL

SAN JOSE, May 19. — Irene Granstedt, 14-year-old Mountain View girl, who seriously injured Harold Galloway, 17, of the same town, when a pistol in her hands exploded during a lovers' quarrel a month ago, will not be prosecuted, according to a statement today by the youth's mother. Prosecution, if there is to be any, she said, will have to be instituted by the juvenile court.

Galloway was yesterday removed from the San Mateo hospital to which he has been confined and taken to the home of Frank Zatterer, millionaire, residing on an estate in the foothills west to Alamo Alto, according to information given out last night by George Galloway, the boy's father.

The lad has so far recovered from the wound which nearly caused his death that he is now able to walk, according to his father. The recovery of young Galloway is considered one of the most extraordinary in many months in this vicinity, his intestines having been punctured in 12 places by the bullet from the gun in Miss Granstedt's hands.

Plans for Galloway's future, further than his stay on the Zatterer ranch, have not been perfected, it is said.

Brolaski, in Cell 2 Weeks, Asks Pardon

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Two weeks after starting his term of two years in the federal penitentiary at McNeill island for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, Harry Brolaski yesterday applied for a presidential pardon. Notice to this effect was received by John T. Williams, United States district attorney.

Judge M. T. Doelling, before whom Brolaski was convicted, and Williams must recommend the pardon before it can be referred to President Harding for action.

Arbuckle Turns Scenario Writer

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle has turned scenario writer.

Furthermore, he is selling his scenarios, it is said. At least he has sold one—his first effort—to "Buster" Keaton. It is stated. It is now called "The Vision," but its name will be changed before it makes its appearance in public.

Arbuckle, who recently at his third trial in San Francisco, was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of Virginia Rappo, screen actress, and whose motion pictures have been barred—temporarily, at least—from the American screen, is said to be hopeful of his scenario efforts and to be busy now upon a second comedy.

SWINDLING GAMBLERS.

NICE.—The Casino is reported to have lost $400,000 this year through worthless checks given there by gamblers.

Are you one of them?

Are you one of those people who are paying the price for good coffee and not getting it?

Do you buy common coffee with its weak flavor and few cups to the pound when you might just as well have fine coffee at about the same cost per cup?

Are you paying your good money and missing the full rich taste and the cheer and comfortable feeling that a fine cup of coffee will give you every morning?

What we say is either so or it isn't so. Schilling Coffee is either about as cheap per cup as common coffee, or it isn't.

We undertake the proof—your money back at your grocer's if you don't find it so.

JAS. DE FREMERY FACES DESERTION CHARGE BY WIFE

Scion of Pioneer Oakland Family Made Defendant Divorce Action.

Mrs. Louise de Fremery filed suit for divorce today against James de Fremery, scion of one of the best-known families in Oakland, charging him with desertion.

charges and set forth that they were married in Louisville, Ky., on June 22, 1912, and separated in this city on November 13 in 1920. Mrs. de Fremery asked the custody of their four children, James J., age 8; William H., age 7; Robert, age 6, and Catherine, age 3. Alimony is set at $200.

De Fremery is in business in San Francisco, and Mrs. de Fremery is residing in Berkeley. Before her marriage to the Oakland man she was a Miss Haas, a Southern belle. The De Fremery family is well known in this city, having been established in pioneer days. One of the city parks was donated by the family when the West Oakland residence was vacated some years ago.

Scottish Rite Masons Have Record Class

WILLIAM PARKER FILMER, Sovereign Grand Inspector for Northern California.

The lodges composing the Oakland bodies of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry are holding a reunion in Oakland at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Fifteenth and Madison streets, this week. The reunion is held for the purpose of conferring the Scottish Rite degrees from the fourth to the thirty-second, inclusive, upon eligible Master Masons residing in the territory surrounding the Eastbay, and who would have no other opportunity to receive these higher degrees owing to their residence in the smaller cities and towns away from Oakland.

The class is the largest in the history of Scottish Rite Free Masonry in Oakland. About 175 candidates took the degrees in Oakland Lodge of Perfection No. 2, and about 160 candidates are taking the higher degrees in Gethsemane Chapter No. 2, Knights of Rose Croix, as well as the DeMolay Council No. 2, Knights of Kadosh, and in Oakland Consistory No. 2, Masters of the Royal Secret.

The ceremony began on Tuesday morning. They will continue until Friday evening, when the thirty-second degree will be conferred upon the reunion class as well as the regular class of candidates, which latter began taking Scottish Rite degrees in January last.

The Oakland Scottish Rite bodies are a part of the Supreme Council (Mother Council of the World) of the inspectors-general, knight commanders of the House of the Temple Solomon, of the thirty-third degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, for the southern jurisdiction of the United States, of which John Henry Cowles, 33d degree, is the sovereign grand commander and William Parker Filmer, 33d degree, is the sovereign grand inspector-general for the northern jurisdiction of California and Hawaii.

The principal officers of the local bodies are Samuel Waters Burtchell, 33 degree, commander in chief of Oakland Consistory No. 2, M. R. S.; William A. Rasmussen, 33 degree, eminent commander of DeMolay council No. 2, Knights of Kadosh; Theodore Albert Schlueter, 33 degree, vice master of Gethsemane chapter No. 2, Knights of the Rose Croix, and Maurice S. Stewart, 33 degree, venerable master of Oakland Lodge of Perfection No. 2; while the board of directors of the Masonic Cathedral association consists of Ben O. Johnson, 33 degree, president; Otto H. Fischer, 33 degree, vice president; Albert L. Smith, 33 degree, secretary; J. A. Hill, 33 degree, treasurer, and Dr. Merton Joseph Congdon, 33 degree. Frank D. Moyer, 33 degree, is treasurer of all the bodies; Enos P. Smith, 33 degree, is officer of all the bodies, while Ben O. Johnson, 33 degree, holds the office of almoner, and J. A. Hill, 33 degree, is secretary of all the bodies.

CHILD DESERTER GETS FREEDOM

Harry S. Henlon and Norman Metcalf, representing the Progressive Business Club, notified Probation Officer Ella Flynn today that the organization will take care of Mrs. Greathead and also assist in caring for the two babies, now at the children's home.

Mrs. Irene Greathead, who abandoned her two-year-old baby on "Mothers Day," was released from custody without bail by Police Judge Tyrrell following her arraignment on a charge of child abandonment.

She was placed in the custody of Miss Ella M. Flynn, assistant adult probation officer. Miss Flynn was instructed by Judge Tyrrell to investigate the case and have her report ready on June 2d, the day of the preliminary examination of the case.

Miss Flynn says that Mrs. Greathead is willing to have the baby which she abandoned, and another four-month-old baby adopted, but before that can be done she must have the permission of her husband. The police are looking for the husband for whom they have a warrant charging him with failure to provide for his minor children. Miss Flynn says that she intends to find a position for the young mother. The police say that if Miss Flynn's report is favorable they will not prosecute her.

JACK HOLT, one of the best interpreters of dramatic roles on the screen, who stars in "Bought and Paid For."

William de Mille Weaves Splendid Screen Play from George Broadhurst's Great Drama

"Bought and Paid For," now George Broadhurst's celebrated play and give probably the best interpretations of their careers. The theme of the play revolves about the question as to whether or not a woman's heart can be purchased by the same gold that dazzled her into an acceptance of marriage not entirely fraught with love. The question is answered in a scene of dramatic eloquence that has thrilled thousands wherever the play has been seen. On the same bill are rounds five and six of "The Leather Pushers," the screen version of H. C. Witwer's fascinating prizefight stories.—Advertisement.

My Favorite Stories

by IRVIN S. COBB

He Wouldn't Commit Himself Yet

The conservatism of the down-East farmer is proverbial. Possibly this trait is a heritage of his Puritan ancestry.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that he is extremely careful to refrain from overstatement or exaggeration of a circumstance. A point in illustration is found in the story of the elderly Vermont farmer who was bringing in hay from his ancestral meadow. Seated upon a fragrant two-ton load he had guided his double team almost to the doors of his barn when one of the front wheels twisted on an outcrop of granite and the cargo capsized, precipitating the husbandman to the stony earth with great violence and entirely burying him under the mound of timothy.

The two hired hands leaped to the rescue. They forked away the hay and after several minutes of strenuous endeavor dug out their employer. He was speechless for the time being and half-suffocated. There was a huge bump on his forehead and one arm dangled to prove that his shoulder blade had been snapped. As they propped the victim against the softer side of a handy boulder, his son, who had been at work in the hay field and who had been summoned by the cries of the rescuers, came running up. Filled with alarm and solicitude, the younger man put a question which seemed somewhat superfluous but which, in view of his fright, was perfectly natural.

"Paw," he cried as he bent over his parent, "did it hurt you?"

"Wall, son," said the old man slowly, and measuring his words, "I wouldn't go so far as to say it's done me any real good."

McEvoy's Comic Strip

Merely McEvoy, MOODS AND MEN

When a writer is in a mood, or vice versa, he usually works it off by writing something to express the mood. An artist gets the same result by painting a picture, a sculptor by sculpting, a musician by composing. And so forth. All very simple, logical and easily understood. But complications are suggested. After all, a writer expressing sadness or joy by writing something is merely doing what is expected of him, what he is paid to do, in fact. And so, too, a musician who pours forth his emotions in rhapsodic rhythms gets something in the end he can sell. Perhaps. But let us consider the emotional delicatessen. A great moment comes to him. He is thrilled and inspired. He feels an urge to * * * well, an urge * * * you know what I mean.

What does he do? What can he do? Write a poem? Paint a landscape? Compose a suite? Certainly not. He expresses himself through the medium of his every-day employment. A great mood descends upon him and he is inspired to dare something he has never quite dared before. Perhaps it is a new kind of pickles. Perhaps he has always dreamed of a potato salad with artichokes in it. The great mood comes. In an ecstasy of emotion he mixes the salad. At the supreme moment he slices the artichokes and stirs them into the dish. His soul is all but torn asunder by the violence of his emotions. He is exalted; an ineffable glory dazzles his eyes; the music of the spheres beats and sweeps through his senses; he becomes intoxicated, delirious * * *

Who will say this crowded hour, this momentous moment, this supreme second is less glorious than fall to the lot of the inspired poet or painter? Who will say the potato salad born of this delicatessen's lofty mood is less a work of art than a poem or a symphony born under similar auspices to the poet or musician? Who will say so? Well, since you ask me—

PRESBYTERIANS ORGANIZE FOR ASSEMBLY WORKDr. Baer of Pasadena One of Leaders, Sent to Bed; Has Tonsillitis.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 19.—(By the Associated Press).—One of the first official acts today of the Rev. Calvin C. Hays of Johnston, Pa., elected moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, by the 134th general assembly here yesterday, was the appointment of Dr. William Oxy Thompson, president of Ohio State University, as vice-moderator.

Dr. Coland B. McKee, the defeated candidate for moderator, who drew 379 votes to Hays' 512, was named chairman of the committee on bills and resolutions.

Dr. John Willis Baer, the Pasadena, Calif., banker, was made chairman of the Home Missions committee. Dr. Baer, who was moderator in 1919, and William Hiram Foulkes of New York, general secretary of the New Era movement, two of the most prominent laymen at the general assembly, were ordered to their beds last night by physicians following attacks of tonsillitis.

BARBER CHIPS
GIRL'S EAR IN BOBBING PROCESS

Remember when you were a kid having your hair cut how scared you were the barber might make a slip and snip a piece out of your ear with those shiny scissors?

Then you can sympathize with little Elvira Corlopapasi, aged 2, of Merced, Calif. Elvira, who is visiting here, was taken to the barber's by her aunt to have her hair bobbed, and just when she was getting over her first fright at the clippers that went z-z-z-z-z, what did the barber do but snip her ear with his scissors.

Aunt rushed Elvira to the Emergency hospital where an incision wound was properly

School Musicians
In Big Concert

A concert will be given in the municipal opera house tonight by the music department of Intermediate School No. 1. A chorus of 200 voices and an orchestra of 65 pieces will be assisted in program by Miss Catherine Urner, music department Mills College. William Beckwith will render a cornet solo. The music teachers of the school are directing the concert.

MONKEY GLANDS FRISKINESS.

BAYSWATER, Eng.—E. B. Lillard, French proprietor of a local hotel, underwent monkey gland treatment a year ago, and at the age of 76 can run, jump and play harder than many young men.

Plans were made for an annual picnic at Mosswood park, Oakland, on June 1. The program for the day will be in charge of Mrs. H. H. Turley.

Club Mendelssohn
Members Hold Rally

RICHMOND, May 19.—Club Mendelssohn held the last meeting of the club year yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Irma St. John, 236 Second street. Mrs. St. John was assisted by Mrs. Huntberger. A brief business session, with final reports on the year's work, preceded the entertainment. Several musical selections were rendered under the direction of Mrs. Clinton B. Smith, chairman of the music section.

The outgoing president, Mrs. R. G. Lee, was presented with a gift by the club out of appreciation for her splendid work during the year. Plans were made for an annual picnic at Mosswood park, Oakland, on June 1. The program for the day will be in charge of Mrs. H. H. Turley.

Bay Metaphysical
Teachers Gather

Leaders of metaphysical teaching in the Bay region assembled for the first session of their three-day meeting at the Home of Truth in Alameda, today. Tomorrow's meeting will be held in Wigwam Hall, Pacific building, Oakland, and Sunday the meetings will be held in San Francisco.

Miss Harriet Hale Rix, president of the Northern California District, is in charge of the entire program for the three days, with Miss Ida B. Elliott, Miss Sullenburg of Alameda, and Mrs. Campton of Berkeley, as assistants.

The afternoon session today was devoted to "Work for Children," and at this evening's session a number of well known speakers are to be heard.

HELD TO ANSWER.
Police Judge Mortimer Smith today held Jack Gross to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of violating the state poison law. He is alleged to have taken narcotics into the city prison. He told the court that he did not know what was in the package.

ACCUSED OF PISTOL THEFT.
Joseph Jones was today charged with burglary for the theft of a revolver. It was stolen from the home of Mrs. Dorothy Grigsley of 1829 Grove street April 25.

The great demand for Montclair property has convinced the Realty Syndicate Company of the necessity of a tract office on the property which they are building now at the cost of several thousand dollars. They hope to have it finished in time for their opening sale Sunday. Make the Piedmont avenue car transfer to the Montclair bus at Portiello street direct to the new office.—Advertisement
